Dairymen Gather On Federal Milk Order Question

Last week a meeting was held in the courthouse by nearly 100 local dairymen for the discussion of beginning an association which may lead to a Federal Milk Order for the dealers of this area. J. O. Woodman, manager of the North Texas Milk Producers Association in Fort Worth, presided at the meeting.

Woodman said an FMO would establish minimum prices for producer milk; stop arbitrary surplus declarations by handlers; assure farmers of accurate milk weights, tests, and classifications, and stabilize the milk market.

Dairymen attending the meeting represented such areas as eastern New Mexico, western Oklahoma, and the Oklahoma Panhandle. The meeting was sponsored by the Randall County Dairy Association. Local dairymen sponsored the meeting because of the increasing disagreement between the milk producers and handlers in the county. This caused the dairymen to desire the investigation of securing a milk marketing order.

Chairman of the meeting discussed some problems encountered by other dairymen who formed such an organization. Woodman also outlined some of the steps the dairymen would have to follow. He explained that such an organization is a regulation issued by the Secretary of Agriculture in regard to the handling of milk in order to make the buying and selling of fluid milk an orderly process on which dairy farmers, milk dealers and consumers alike can depend.

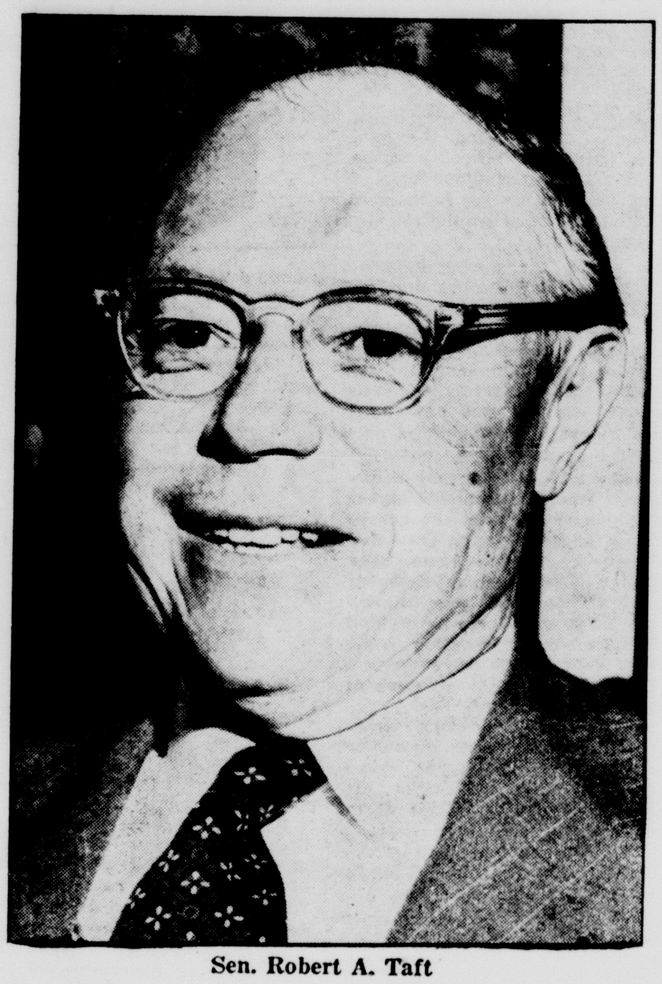

Woodman said the program was not a subsidy and neither was it financed by the taxpayers' money. He said that it paid its own way through the assessment on handlers according to the quantity of milk each handler receives. He added that such organizations are not operating in 50 fluid milk marts in the U. S.

Before forming such an organization you must first have a milk producer's association. The FMO requires the approval of two-thirds of the voting milk producers in that particular area.

Woodman said the steps in forming a FMO were first to present a formal petition to the Secretary of Agriculture; second to prove that the producers have an organization; third prove a need for FMO; fourth, a public hearing to air both sides of the question; and fifth, an election.

Further action was postponed until the next meeting which was scheduled for 1 o'clock in the afternoon of August 11. At that time another meeting will be held in the Randall County courthouse to continue discussion on the issue. Until then the dairymen who attended this meeting will be talking to other dairymen about the prospects of an FMO.

"Mr. Republican" Dies of Cancer

Sen. Robert A. Taft

Death came to Senator Robert Taft of Ohio, named "Mr. Republican" by his many admirers. Cancer was given as the cause of his death. Taft, the son of former President William Howard Taft, was buried at his home in Ohio Tuesday following the funeral in Washington, D. C., Monday. Among those who expressed their deep appreciation of Senator Taft was President Eisenhower, former President Harry S. Truman, Senator Lyndon Johnson and others.

More Than an Inch Moisture

Canyon has received 1.13 of an inch of moisture during the past week.

Moisture falling Wednesday night measured .12 of an inch; with the heaviest fall coming Monday night when .96 was measured; and a light sprinkle of .05 falling Tuesday night.

The rains have been spotted. Some parts of the county have not yet received rains, while other sections show almost normal moisture. The rainfall in Canyon up to last night now totals 7.21 inches for 1953.

Anthrax Kills 18 Cows in County

A total of 18 head of cattle has died recently as a result of a new outbreak of anthrax, a highly contagious disease which destroyed quite a number of cattle in Randall County last year. The biggest loser to anthrax was Joe Byrd, who lost 15 head of cattle. Louis Hinders, Bob Dowd, and Eugene Bond each lost one animal to the disease.

Local veterinarians have been trying to keep the outbreak of the disease as quiet as possible as a safeguard to isolation of the highly contagious disease. At the present time it is believed under control as no new cases have been reported in several days.

Officials believe the disease was picked up first in a dried lake bed. Before it was diagnosed as anthrax, several cattle in different herds had died from it. As soon as it was diagnosed as anthrax all animals that had been exposed to it were vaccinated and the herds in neighboring pastures were put under quarantine by the Texas Livestock Sanitary Commission.

If any herd owners suspect the presence of anthrax on their place, they are urged to call the veterinarian to carry out proper treatment of the disease. If proper treatment is not observed many cattle may die as the result. The treatment includes a vaccination of all animals exposed and the proper care in disposal of the carcass of animals that have died with the disease.

Second Round Application Feed Taken

The second round of applications for drouth emergency feed is being accepted now by the Randall County Drouth Committee. This is being done even though deliveries on the first application is behind schedule.

The owners of cattle that have made application for this feed should make a second application if they need additional feed. It is hoped that a second delay may be avoided if orders can be made ahead of the need.

Mixed feeds have been added to the list of approved feeds. These mixed feeds having at least 40 per cent corn and 40 per cent cottonseed meal will reflect the reduced price of these two ingredients. Details and forms for handling applications for mixed feeds are now being received. Complete details will be announced in a few days.

The Randall County Drouth Committee has processed almost 300 applications so far.

Phone Company Moves Equipment To New Building

Workmen at the new telephone office now being constructed said the company would be moving in some equipment by the end of this week. The carpenter work inside the building is also supposed to be completed before the end of the week. Part of the equipment would have been moved in Monday if there had not been a slight change in plans.

The concrete floor in the rear part of the building had been thoroughly cleaned and waxed. Some telephone company officials came in to inspect the building before moving in the equipment. After checking the new building over the officials decided the wax should be removed and the concrete floor covered with tile.

Those who were working on the building did not know just when finish work inside the building would be completed. However, it was believed that within another week this would probably be accomplished.

Wheat Growers To Vote August 14

A national election vital to all Randall County wheat farmers will be held in all wheat growing counties on August 14. This election will be on marketing quotas for the 1953-54 wheat crop.

Any person who will have a share in the coming wheat crop on a farm for which an acreage allotment of more than 15 acres is established is eligible to vote.

In Texas if either the husband or wife is eligible to vote by reason of the above qualification, then each is eligible.

If more than two-thirds of those voting in the United States vote in favor of wheat marketing quotas, the Secretary of Agriculture will proclaim quotas on wheat planted this fall.

If the vote is favorable then marketing penalties on wheat grown on excess acres must be satisfied. This penalty shall be 45 per cent of the parity price as of May 1st of each year. It would be about $1.10 per bushel based on the 1953 parity price.

Price support of 90 per cent of parity will be in effect for those who plant within their allotment.

If quotas are disapproved no marketing quotas or penalties will be placed on any farm. Acreage allotments already proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture will remain in effect. A price support of only 50 per cent of parity will be extended to those who stay within their allotment.

All Randall County wheat growers should become informed on the issues of this election. Any of the representatives of the several agricultural agencies working in the county can supply additional information on the coming election.

Eight Carloads of Emergency Feed Is Received Here

W. H. Upchurch, head of the PMA office here, said eight carloads of drouth emergency feed had been received here by late Tuesday afternoon. He said the PMA staff here was spending lots of time trying to get the feed shipped in as rapidly as possible. He also said that other cars of feed were expected any time now.

Three of the eight carloads received have been corn. It is Nebraska corn and was described as excellent feed. In fact, Upchurch said all the feed received was really top quality stuff. There were about 342,000 pounds of the corn, Upchurch said.

There were two cars of wheat which totaled about 200,000 pounds and the other three cars were cottonseed pellets. All of the feed should be delivered by the end of today but by this time more feed will probably have arrived here.

Inspection of Cars Under New Law Start Soon

The new period, during which Texas motorists will be required to have their auto inspected under the new modified Motor Vehicle Inspection law which was enacted by the recent 53rd Legislature, has been unofficially set for September 15, 1953, through April 15, 1954, it was announced today by Col. Homer Garrison, Jr., Director of the Texas Department of Public Safety.

Garrison said that the State Public Safety Commission has advised him that they will confirm the designation of the new period on August 26, the effective date of the new act.

The old law which aroused much controversial argument during the last session of the Legislature will expire at midnight August 25 and no inspections will be made under its provisions after that date.

Garrison explained that this means that no inspections of any sort will be made between that time and the beginning of the new priod on September 15th.

The modified law calls for inspection only of brakes, lighting equipment, horns, rear view mirrors and windshield wipers.

"In view of the fact that the inspection stations throughout the state are already set up and equipped to perform this work," Garrison said, "we feel that the full seven months of the new period will afford motorists ample time to have their vehicles inspected."

He urged, however, that car owners not wait too long lest they get caught in a last minute rush to meet the inspection deadline.

Commissioners Court Approves New Property Tax Evaluations

Commissioners Court met in special session Monday and approved tax evaluations as worked out by members of the commission and Tax Assessor-Collector Bill Money. Money said County Clerk Tommie Lair would soon be mailing cards to inform various citizens of the revaluations.

He said the cards would read, "Your real property value has been raised from (amount) to (amount).

"Your personal property value has been lowered from (amount) to (amount)."

Money said all of the people would have a ten-day notice and then a Commissioners Court session will be held for people to come in and make any complaint they feel in order. It is their opportunity to make any protest about the new tax revaluation program. If the various persons appearing before the court can convince the commissioners that their taxes should not be raised, the old evaluation will be followed. The session of court for hearing protests is to be held Wednesday, August 19.

Tax evaluation of some of the real property has been raised, but the evaluation of personal property has been lowered. The tax assessor-collector said that it was the fairest type of tax evaluation program the group could work out. The group studied maps, drove out and checked on land, and made every effort possible to get a fair evaluation for tax purposes of all property in the county.

Money said many farmers would be paying less taxes under the new evaluation because of the reduction in personal property tax. The commissioners also took into consideration the value of the land before evaluating it for tax purposes. If a part of the land was good and part of it was in canyons that could not be cultivated, the percentage of good land was computed and tax evaluation set on it. Bad land of a farm was assessed reduced taxes.

Maps used in the study included every draw, gulley, hill or canyon in Randall County land. In checking these maps if there was any doubt the commissioner in whose precinct it was located drove out and made a personal inspection of the property.

Land without irrigation wells was naturally revaluated higher than non-irrigated land. The more irrigation wells on a farm the higher the tax evaluation ran.

Money said that for each 10 to 15 pieces of property lowered only about one was raised. He said grass land was set at $2.00 to $5.00 per acre; dry farming land from $6.00 to $7.00 per acre, and irrigated land at $10.00 per acre.

Mayor Andy Walsh Is Back on Job

Mayor Andy Walsh returned Saturday from California. He was operated upon four weeks ago and is making a good recovery. However, his physicians told him to take it easy for a few more weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Walsh have been visiting his mother and members of her family in California.

Another Drawing Slated Saturday

Excitement of another Trades Day drawing will fill the atmosphere about Canyon Saturday. Roland Black, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said the drawing will be held at the usual time, 3 p. m., from the bandstand.

The usual three prizes will be offered. First prize of $100, and the second prize of $25 will be given away no matter how many times officials have to draw for them. The $25 consolation prize will be drawn for only once, and if the prize is not claimed it will be held over and added to the $25 at the next drawing, making a jackpot of $50 at that time.

At the last drawing all three prizes were given away. Before the drawing started one of the bystanders asked how many stubs were in the container. Another person estimated the number as 300,000. Actually there is no way of knowing just how many stubs are in the cage because many people keep their stubs to put in just before the drawing. Some of these tickets may be more than two weeks old.

Miss Susie Snow of San Diego, Calif., is spending two weeks in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Barrett.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Furlow spent Monday until Thursday in Midland with their daughter, Miss Katie Furlow.

Big Watermelon Feast Planned

A watermelon feast Saturday evening, August 8, at the City Club promises the public an economical good time. Tickets are being sold and the affair is open to the public. For 50 cents an adult can eat all the watermelon he can hold, and for 25 cents a child can get in on the feast.

Arrangements for the watermelon feast were made by finance and entertainment committee of the City Club. Members of this committee are O. W. (Bud) Parker, Dr. Ples Harper, and R. B. Allen.

Allen said the feast would be held at the City Club grounds between the hours of 7 and 9 o'clock in the evening. He said the watermelons would be deliciously cold and there will be enough for everyone to eat all he desires.

Births

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. John Martinez on July 30.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Littlefield are the parents of a daughter, born August 2.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert O. Wilkes, a son on August 2.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Birch Campbell on August 2.

Mr. and Mrs. I. A. Bynum are the parents of a daughter, born August 3.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Friemel, a daughter on August 5.

Mrs. William Koller and Mrs. Allene Langford of Fort Worth spent the week-end with Mrs. Florence Stephenson.

Mrs. J. L. Duflot Died Monday After Long Illness

Mrs. Elizabeth S. Duflot died Monday evening at 7 o'clock at the Neblett Hospital following an illness of several months.

The funeral services were held at the First Christian Church Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, conducted by Rev. Joe Findley, with interment in Memory Gardens, under the direction of the Griggs-Warren Funeral Home.

Active pall bearers were: G. A. Farlow, R. B. Davis, W. E. Miller, R. E. Ball, Ford Fronabarger, A. K. Knott. Honorary pall bearers were members of the faculty.

Mrs. Duflot was the wife of J. L. Duflot, who retired as professor in West Texas State last year. Other survivors are one son, Dr. Leo Duflot of Galveston; two daughters, Mrs. W. R. Dawes of Big Spring, and Mrs. F. W. Kendrick of Toledo, Ohio; one sister, Mrs. Eroline Mohundro of Mayfield, Ky.

Mrs. Reid Rites Held Thursday

Funeral services for Mrs. G. R. Reid were conducted Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the First Baptist Church with Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor, officiating at the final rites.

Mrs. Reid died in her home at 1716 4th Avenue last Tuesday afternoon at 2:40 o'clock. The 81-year-old widow of G. R. Reid had lived at the Fourth Avenue address since 1910. In addition to belonging to the Baptist church she was a member of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include four daughters, Mrs. Frank Hicks of Canyon, Mrs. Pearl Umphres of Houston, Mrs. J. E. Barron of Lamesa, and Mrs. J. M. Cullen of Plainview; one son, Marvin F. Reid of Houston; 12 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren.

Burial was in Dreamland Cemetery under the direction of Griggs-Warren Funeral Home.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Arlie Green and family and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Green and family went to Friona Monday to attend the funeral of their nephew and cousin, J. D. Johnson. Johnson was killed Saturday night near Friona in an automobile accident.

No Action Yet On Cantrell Charges

A special session of the Commissioners Court was held Thursday in an attempt to get an early hearing and settlement in the claims of the county against former Randall County Sheriff Ervin Cantrell.

A group of citizens met with the commissioners in an attempt to get the case settled and later in the afternoon District Attorney Hermon Pipkin met with the commissioners in a session closed to reporters.

The day-long meeting and testimony of the citizens did not culminate in any particular action toward getting the claims settled. Nothing was settled, and no date was set for a future meeting for further discussion. Neither has any action been taken to bring Cantrell to trial on the charges of embezzling county funds. At the meeting Thursday Attorney George McCarthy appeared in Cantrell's behalf.

Judge Roy Joe Stevens said the citizens who came before the commissioners wanted the claims settled as recommended by the grand jury in the fall of 1952. Grady Persons, foreman of that grand jury, and other citizens appeared before the Commissioners Court Thursday.

Friday Is Dollar Day in Canyon

Once more the public has an opportunity for better values as the merchants of Canyon reduce prices for another Dollar Day. This month Dollar Day falls on the 7th. This day of special values was revived more than a year ago and was set to be held on the first Friday of each month.

Because July was a month that had five Fridays in it a period of six weeks has elapsed since the last Dollar Day. The next Dollar Day, the one to come in September, will be only four weeks from the one being held this week.

The next two Dollar Days the the ones that will be very important to parents and students. These are the ones in which parents and students will be seeking better values for the school days that are not far in the future.

Whether it's school supplies, clothes, hardware, cars, radios, notions from the dime stores, or farm implements, you'll find better values at home this Friday, Dollar Day.

Canyon Needs a Group of Negro Workers

A citizen of Canyon came by The News office the other day just after last week's issue was distributed.

"I believe in every item that you listed as being necessary for a good town, but you omitted something.

"We have need of a group of low rent houses filled with Negroes," stated this business man. He pointed out that Negroes pay their rent promptly; spend all their income in the town of their residence—which is something that Canyon folks do not do.

"Too many folks are running up to Amarillo for all of their needs without even looking in Canyon," was his statement.

Maybe this spokesman is right. Write a letter to The News and give your opinion on Negro labor. Maybe something is in the making in Canyon.

Fire Alarm Was False Tuesday

The siren that sounded shortly before 11 o'clock yesterday morning was a false alarm. The fire was believed to be in the National Guard Armory.

There was no fire; the smoke that was boiling out of windows and doors of the building was from an insect bomb that was set off inside. Someone noticed the smoke and turned in the alarm.

Firemen said actually the alarm was a good thing and showed that someone was careful in observing for unexpected fires. If the Armory had actually been on fire there is no telling just how much damage could have been caused inside the building as there is quite a bit of ammunition stored there.

TO HOLD MEETING

Rev. Strauss Atkinson, pastor of the Canyon Baptist Church, will go to Littlefield August 16 where he will start a revival meeting.

HEREFORD PUBLISHER HERE

Jimmie Gillentine, publisher of The Hereford Brand, was a visitor in Canyon Thursday and spent a short time visiting at The Canyon News office.

Monday's Rain Was Great Help

"It's a good thing it rained Monday night," Dudley Bayne, city secretary, said Tuesday morning. He added that the city water works were getting behind again in keeping up with the demand of water.

Bayne mentioned the rains of a few days ago and said that during that period there was a time when the wells were pumping almost exactly the amount of water that was being used. Then there were several days in which no rain was received and water was used much faster than it could be pumped.

If a few more rains come along that are good enough to halt irrigation of lawns and gardens, our water supply will probably be built up so the pumps can keep the reservoir full.

Rev. and Mrs. Win Matsler returned Thursday from a vacation trip to Iowa where they visited relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Thompson left Saturday for a vacation trip to Colorado.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

Tucson Is Small City With Lots Big Ideas of Growth

"How large is Tucson?" the visitor asks.

The answer depends entirely upon the person from whom the question is raised. We received answers ranging all the way from 35,000 to 180,000. Which is quite a range even in Arizona.

The business section is spread all over the face of the city, with a liberal sprinkling of good homes even in the business section.

We received the last estimate on population from a taxi driver who explained that Tucson had not taken in all of the adjoining territory to count as population.

(The official census of 1950 gives the population as 45,000.)

When folks here in Canyon cannot tell you the population of our little city, do not become disgusted. Folks in other communities are likewise living in the dark.

Three daily newspapers are published under separate management and with different staffs under one roof.

That is the trend of affairs. It matters not that the papers are owned by the same group of publishers, the corporate interests are different.

They are building a new building and installing a new plant.

It seems that the big towns are getting bigger at the expense of the small towns.

Building has never stopped in Tucson, boasted the taxi driver.

Folks just naturally gravitate to the healthy climate, which boasts of only four inches of rainfall per year.

When told that we were there because of arthritis, the taxi driver remarked that there was only one sure cure—move to Tucson. Hundreds of persons have followed the rush to the city.

We read while in Tucson that there are 10,000,000 persons in America who are suffering with arthritis. Shown the dispatch, a nurse in the clinic remarked that there was not doubt about this figure—that 9,500,000 such persons had gone through their clinic.

We read another article in which it was pointed out that the largest population influx came from Texas to Arizona; and that Arizona had the largest percentage of native born persons in the entire Southwest.

We saw the largest crowd at 8 o'clock Sunday morning on the streets of Tucson, largely Spanish, that we could imagine. With Old Mexico only 60 miles away, thousands of persons who live and work in Tucson are natives of Mexico.

If you are looking for a comparison between Amarillo and Tucson, just pick up the telephone directories of the two cities: 101 pages of names in Amarillo, as compared with 129 pages in Tucson; 230 pages of the yellow section in Amarillo, compared with 336 in Tucson.

While the medical section in Tucson is much larger than in Amarillo, there is more advertising in the yellow section of the western city.

However, the newspapers of Amarillo are much larger day after day than they are in Tucson.

Sales are the rage for the moment. It looks like all business houses are anxious to unload.

One little reminder to Canyon merchants: Before you run a sale, be sure to take your clerks into your confidence, and give them the sales prices.

We noted that clerks in Tucson did not know the prices at which merchandise was being sold—or else we were being taken as a visiting sucker. (Probably a little of both).

President Eisenhower Has Different Idea as President

We picked up a magazine the other day which had a long article upon the Eisenhower administration, comparing him to the two previous Presidents.

The article stated that when Eisenhower appointed a man to a cabinet job, or any other position, his duties were completely outlined and he was advised that what he did would be approved. This Truman failed to do—stand by his appointees, while Roosevelt was eternally changing his mind about men and measures.

Another difference is that Eisenhower takes regular exercise in his favorite game of golf. Truman engaged in early walks, while FDR remained in bed.

Eisenhower clears his desk at night, and never takes home work for night. Truman was noted as a night worker, while FDR transacted much of his state business at night, but unlike Truman was a late riser in the morning.

The comparison as between the three Presidents was carried out in a most interesting manner. The three men had different problems, and all were doing their jobs to the best of their abilities. Eisenhower is more military in his thoughts and characteristics than the other two men.

Churchill Wants Us to Cut Aid to Europe; Give to Him

Churchill has sprung a new idea upon the United States. He would like for America to scrap the European aid compact, and arm England to the teeth.

Naturally Sir Winston is looking at the vast sums of money which American taxpayers have dug up in the protection of the mainland, with little aid from the people of those nations.

Since the proposal has been made, just as well take a look at the suggestion. Naturally Churchill expects America to carry the load of arming England to the teeth. Since he knows good and well that the English people will not put up the money necessary to foot such a huge bill, who else but America could be expected to pay for this expense.

Churchill probably looks with disdain upon his neighbors on the continent—the English are pretty snooty in such things.

France is having a tough time keeping a government; the Italian government has fallen. None of the continental nations are putting up cash to meet their obligation to hold back the Russian Reds.

Now if YOU were President, what would you say?

Newspaper advertising is still a bargain.

Minor Officials Messing Up Drouth Feed Plans of State

When President Eisenhower appeared in Amarillo he declared that the feed program would be put into effect without any "dilly-dallying around."

The President is finding out that this is not the way of official Washington. The boys up that way and down the line don't give a whoop as to what becomes of the cattle or the farmers of the Southwest just so they can delay the game and put in a lot of directives where no directives existed before.

We learned our lesson of government red tape a few years ago. When directives were issued from Washington, we have seen "little" men sit at tables by the hour studying these directives. These "little" men would put their minds to work, raising the questions, "Now wonder if this doesn't mean thus and so?" By the time the "little" men had gone through these directives a few times the whole story had been changed. The meaning had been compeltely changed.

We are reminded that a cousin of the Newsman was employed by the government a few years ago to go through the files of a great department in Washington trying to teach the department how to write short, concise letters; letters which would be understood, and which would mean what they said.

So far as the feed situation is concerned, thousands of cattle have died in this drouth stricken territory while the red tape boys tried to place their own interpretation on the government directives.

Red tape means "dilly-dallying around!"

W. C. Black Was a Good Man For His Home and Community

The entire community was shocked by the sudden death of W. C. Black.

He was a good man in a position of great responsibility, and he had handled the affairs of the First National Bank in a highly satisfactory manner. Those who have done business with Bill Black at the Bank have profited through his kindness in looking after their affairs.

Throughout the years Mr. Black and the Newsman have been closely associated in various business transactions. We have known him as a man of high standing among his fellow men, and a man of high integrity in the entire county.

His death comes as a distinct shock to all who knew him. The large concourse of friends who gathered for the final rites Wednesday afternoon was a mute expression of the affection in which Mr. Black was held by his fellow man.

His family and his friends may cherish the thought that here was a real man in a community of friendly folks, a man who lived his life well and was confident in his place in this community and as a real representative of the great banking business of the Southwest.

Peace be to his ashes!

Liquor Stores Are Paying Big Returns to the Owners

We have been trying to discover why so many persons spend so much money in drink.

Just take a look at the liquor stores in your travels around the country and you will wonder why it is that so many of them manage to stay open and do a flourishing business.

As a matter of record, we were authoritatively informed that a small cubby hole of a bar in the largest and best hotel of Tucson, with a minimum of help, was bringing more revenue to the hotel than the entire establishment of 10 floors, dining hall and coffee shop.

People drink regardless of the consequences.

Profits Have Not Kept Up With Increase in Wages

Increased wages can always be justified by the fellow who seeks a raise.

We have been hearing that industry can afford to pay higher prices for labor simply because it is making big returns from its investment. The union boys have always insisted that capital could pay the increased wage out of the profits they make without increasing prices.

Maybe industry could; but they don't. Every boost in wages means another boost in price of the products being manufactured.

Unfortunately for the union agreement, from 1846 to 1952, profits increased from $14 billion to $17 billion of dollars, a gain of $3 billion dollars. At the same time wages increased from $117 billion to $190 billion dollars, a gain of $73 billion.

Just figure out how long many corporations, little and big, would still be in business today if they had followed the unions in salary demands.

The Shooting Stops, but The Reds May Try Again

The average American rejoices in his heart that the shooting in Korea has stopped, but wonders when it will be resumed.

We are skeptical of the antics of the Reds.

The commies are a bunch of liars, and no one can believe a word which they utter. Here for three years American men have been killed by the thousands, and billions of dollars put up in carrying on the expensive and destructive war.

Advertising is not all there is to selling but it is a great big help.

The more prejudice a man has, the louder he talks about his tolerance.

Money is not as important as a lot of young people think it is.

Smartness is never synonomous with vulgarity and improprieties.

What has become of the annual row over women's skirts?

We have not yet met a man or woman who could not run the State Department.

The attraction some people find in others has long been a cosmic mystery.

To be informed, people must first be willing to listen, and respect the opinion of others.

Arguments usually aren't worth it.

Schools Look To the Future

(This is the third and last in a series of articles explaining the minimum foundation, or Gilmer-Aikin, school program. Mr. Stilwell, superintendent of Texarkana schools and chairman of the Texas State Teachers Association's legislative committee, was a member of the original Gilmer-Aikin committee).

By H. W. STILWELL

Details of financing the minimum foundation school program, which is the educational envy of many other states, are rather complicated but the principles are easy to understand.

In effect, here's what happens:

The state law grants funds to local school districts for hiring a certain number of teachers, proportionate to school attendance, and to pay them no less than minimum salaries set by law, based on their training and experience. That means a school district must obtain a certain amount of money.

Now, a big part of that money comes from the available school fund, established by the constitution and into which goes one-fourth of certain taxes. The money in this fund is distributed on a per capita basis—the average daily attendance is divided into the amount of money in the fund each year to determine the amount to be paid each school district per student.

In addition, the local school district must pay a certain amount of the money required to keep it above minimum standards. The ceiling on this local fund assignment, on a state-wide basis, is $45,000,000. In other words, local districts, in addition to paying the entire cost of buildings and many other items, also pay $45,000,000 into the minimum foundation program.

Each school district's individual share of this amount is determined through the use of an economic index formula, written into the law. This formula, designed to determine a district's taxpaying ability, is based upon the assessed valuation of the county, its scholastic population and its total income.

The local fund assignment for each school is added to the amount it receives in per capita payments. If the total is less than the amount needed to maintain minimum standards laid down in the Gilmer-Aikin laws, the difference comes from the minimum foundation fund. In that way, every child in the state is guaranteed a minimum standard of education.

The local funds, of course, come from ad valorem taxes on local property, since that is the only tax source local school districts have. Each school board is responsible for spending that part of its local tax revenue which is not required for the minimum foundation program. School boards must meet that obligation first; they are then free to spend the remainder of their local revenue for such things as new classrooms, equipment and the many other items needed in modern schools.

Has Texas solved the problem then, that the 18-member Gilmer-Aikin Committee tackled back in 1947? Not entirely, but it certainly has come a long way and now has the foundation on which to build the kind of school system statesmen dating back to Mirabeau Lamar and Sam Houston have advocated.

Attendance has greatly improved and so has the standard of teachers—in fact, 98 per cent of Texas teachers hold degrees. All of our schools have classes now for nine months a year. The average daily attendance has increased approximately 10 per cent since the Gilmer-Aikin laws went into effect in 1949.

We still face a critical shortage of teachers, however, for we have not yet made the teaching profession attractive enough to young college graduates. We still face a growing and serious need for new classrooms; local school districts are straining at their bank accounts now to provide these.

But, despite these problems which beg for solutions, Texans can well be proud of the minimum foundation program established by the Gilmer-Aikin laws.

SILENT HOLDUP MEN

Denver, Colo. — Marion Jackson, 60, told police that, as he walked toward his home, two men stepped from an alley and one pointed a gun at him. The other man took Jackson's wallet, from his pocket, removed a dollar bill from it and handed the bill to Jackson. Then they vanished with the wallet and its contents—$60. Not one word was spoken by any one of them.

Jelly-making, if not a lost art, is certainly no longer considered a kitchen necessity. Home orchards are rare and, modern housewives explain, having to buy the fruit takes the thrift out of the practice. The store-bought sweets, they say, are both good and varied. Hence the hobby cooks are about the only ones these days who choose to spend a hot summer day cooking up a big batch of apples, plums or cherries.

Well, there is one other group: women with husbands. These fascinating male creatures are often obsessed with the notion that home-cooked sweets are better. Or else they think packaged cooking, because it's easy, is slightly sinful. Or, most likely, they just happen to have a fruit tree growing on the premises and it gives them a sense of self-sufficiency to harvest fruit from their own vine and fig tree, take it to the house where the little woman preserves and stores it for the lo-o-ong winter months. A few men we know have such a strong throw-back to grandfather's day that they buy expensive fruit by the bushel and bring it proudly home for a patient — or impatient — wife to work up.

Women married to such men can protest, pretend illness, or hide their heads in the clothes basket. But come July, they're still going to have to steam up the kitchen for at least one day of jelly-making.

We're surprised that summer canning has not figured as a cause in more divorce cases. Maybe Mother Nature intervenes just often enough with a late freeze that kills fruit and thus lowers domestic pressure. Maybe it's because women, once they've got through the drudgery, are prouder than their husbands at the results. The next day they're out bright and early bearing gifts of "a little glass of homemade jelly" to neighbors and friends.

Shower Honors Recent Bride

On Saturday afternoon Miss Bertie May Williams and Miss Albessa Stephenson were hostesses for a shower honoring Mrs. Harold L. Rhodes, formerly Miss Wilma Cupell.

Approximately 90 guests called or sent gifts between the hours of 3 and 6.

Miss Stephenson, the honoree, Mrs. Q. L. Chapman, and Miss Velma Cupell, sisters of the honoree, greeted the guests. Miss Vera Mae Chapman, niece of the honoree, and Miss Joan Massey of Shamrock, presided at the bride's book.

Mrs. Rhodes was attractively dressed in white organdy and wore a corsage of yellow roses. Other members of the house party wore carnation corsages. Arrangements of pink gladioli and purple asters were used in the entertainment rooms.

In the dining room, the table laid with a hand crochet tablecloth was centered with a crystal bowl of yellow carnations and aqua tulle accented with yellow tapers. The guests were served orange sherbet and cake.

MARY ANN WHEELOCK FETED WITH 7th BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Wheelock honored their daughter, Mary Ann, with a party on her seventh birthday Thursday, July 30.

After games had been played, pictures taken and the presents opened, birthday cake and ice cream were served to Stephen Langston, Linda Hughes, Kathy Ford, Cindy McGregor, Susan Davis, Ronnie Bacon, Grace Williams, Judy Stevenson, Judy Britt, Kathleen Jackson, Ethel Johnson, and the honoree.

WHEAT VOTE

Wheat farmers of the nation will vote on August 14 to decide whether they want to accept Federal controls on their 1954 crop to keep the present high Federal guarantee of prices. The wheat referendum will be the first since 1941 when 80 per cent of eligible producers voted in controls.

BURNED IN ACCIDENT

Edgewood, Md. — Mrs. Ann Lou Freeman, 41, and Mrs. Jeannette P. Duncan, 36, were burned, one seriously, when they were struck by a can of flaming gasoline on Star Route 24. The can had been thrown away by a motorist, when it ignited as he was pouring gasoline into his car's carburetor.

PRISONERS-OF-WAR

The United Nations hold 86,000 Communist prisoners of war, 13,000 of which have indicated that they do not wish to be repatriated, while the Communists hold 15,000 United Nations prisoners, 3,000 of them Americans.

DEFENSE COSTS

Defense officials report that they expect to be able to cut spending for defense by as much as $1,000,000,000 under a "decent" Korean truce. The economies would be largely in ammunition, trucks and other "consumption items," with little savings in fixed costs.

PRICE INDEX

The Consumers' Price index reached its highest point in the month ending June 15, with indications that prices would go still higher in July.

MID-AFTERNOON TEA GIVEN IN MRS. C. G. POND HOME

On Saturday afternoon, the attractive home of Mrs. C. G. Pond was the scene of a lovely tea, honoring her sister, Mrs. J. R. Bonds, of Casa Grande, Arizona.

Laid with an imported French lace cloth, the tea table was centered with a beautiful arrangement of Floating Pink asters, flanked by Chinese figurines, which was accented by the brilliance of the lighted antique crystal chandeliers.

Mrs. Bonds presided at the silver service; other appointments were of imported and period silver. Refreshments of cheese niblets, green maccarons, nuts, mints, and orange sherbet in orange cups were served.

A large grouping of pink and lavender asters centered the buffet. Other floral decorations throughout the huge entertaining rooms which lend beauty were planters of ivy and other greenery. Down at the bottom of the winding stairway, which leads into the basement den, was a charming planter with a delightful arrangement of variegated flowers and cacti.

Mrs. Everett Trout registered the guests. Approximately 20 called.

TROOP 66 SCOUTS CARRY ON DURING LEADER'S ABSENCE

Although their Scoutmaster, Edd Pett has gone on a week pack-in trip to Pecos, N. M., 12 Boy Scouts of Troop 66 held their regular weekly meeting Monday at the First Christian Church. Adult supervisor J. A. Young of Explorer Post 66 was present.

PARTY GIVEN FOR JOHNNY PETTITT ON 6th BIRTHDAY

Johnny Mike Pettitt had a birthday party Monday, August 3. He was six years old.

The Ice Cream Man visited the party to serve ice cream to Susan and Craig Davis, Janis Miller, Rose Ellen Parker, Mike Powell, Daren Finke, and the honoree.

Games of "Target Shoot," 'Pin the Tail on the Donkey," "Drop the Buttons," and "Potato Race" were played. Cowboy hats and guns were the favors. Everyone enjoyed the birthday cake which in shape and decorations carried out the cowboy theme.

GOVERNMENT PROFITS

Because the United States Government has the right to coin its own money, it earned some $66,000,000 in fiscal year, representing primarily the difference between what it paid for silver and its value as coined money.

MAIL RATE RISE

It is considered by practically all Congressmen that the chances of final action this year on Administration request for $240,000,000 worth of postal-rate increases are very remote. The Post Office Department faced a deficit of about $600,000,000 at the start of the current fiscal year.

TOBACCO

The Agriculture Department has announced it will support grower prices of 1953-crop flue-cured tobacco at an average of 47.9 cents a pound. This is a drop from the support price of last year, which averaged 50.6 cents.

FEDERAL DEFICIT

Despite record tax collections of $69,595,916.38 in the fiscal year just ended, the U. S. Treasury announced a record peace-time deficit of $9,389,000,000. It is considered certain that legislation raising the legal national debt limit of $275,000,000,000 will be introduced.

THE OLD REPROBATE

Mother — Is it true that you put an advertisement in the paper to obtain a husband?

Daughter — Yes, Ma.

Mother — I don't know what father would say to such goings on. Did you get any answers?

Daughter — Only one, from father.

HIS LUCKY DAY

Sonny — Daddy, do you remember where it was that you first met mamma?

Daddy — Yes, son, I recall that it was at a party where there were 13 at the table.

BOTH ENDS

"Why do you call your house a bungalow?"

"Well, if it isn't a bungalow, what is it?" "The builder made a bungle of it and I still owe for it."

COAL

Government statisticians report that oil has supplanted coal as the nation's chief source of energy. The situation is expected to reverse again by 1960, however, unless the introduction of atomic energy upsets calculations.

PEACE

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles declared recently that while the United Nations sought an "honorable peace" in Korea, they were not "suppliants" and were prepared to carry on the war if the Communists insisted. Mr. Dulles warned that prompt action would be taken if the Reds violated armistice terms.

ONE FOR SCIENCE

M. E. Professor (after lecture) — Are there any questions?

Frosh — Yes, sir. How do you calculate the horse-power in a donkey-engine?

HIS DEAREST CONFIDANTE

"What's the matter with that guy?"

"He is complaining to his wife that his stenographer doesn't understand him."

INTEREST

Bloofus — I wonder why rich folks so often marry rich folks?

Obfuscus — Because they have so much interest in common.

NEW WORDS FOR OLD

Mother — Why didn't you call me when Mr. Clive kissed you?

Daughter — He threatened me.

Mother — Threatened?

Daughter — Yes, not to kiss me any more.

From LOOK Magazine's DREAM KITCHEN

We've tried something new in our kitchen the last few weeks—sampling the hot weather dishes of India, which are as spicy as the climate. We've discovered that curried dishes are as good hot weather fare here as in India and easy to make with some American short cuts as described in LOOK.

Speediest short-cut of all, even if it isn't orthodox, is to warm canned boned chicken in canned tomato soup diluted with ½ can consomme and seasoned with curry, paprika, ginger, thyme and pinch of cinnamon and cloves. Serve this with rice (pre-cooked variety) for a quick and different dinner.

Most fascinating dish we tested must have come from a Maharaja's palace: you might want to try it for a picnic sometime. First, we pierced holes at top and bottom of raw eggs, and blew the insides out. Then we beat these with salt, pepper, ginger, curry, mustard, a little butter—and poured them back into the shells. Yes, it's possible—and LOOK'S recipe folder on Indian foods tells how. After the eggs were replaced we set them to cook for twenty minutes, like any good hard-cooked eggs—and peeled them when done, for a deviled egg with the "devil" built in, and unusual new texture.

Your family will probably want to top off such spicy fare with a tall cool drink. At our house, we like to vary the cold-drink menu by diluting frozen concentrated juices with carbonated drinks. Try pineapple juice with ginger ale, grape concentrate with lemon-lime. And did you hear about the current Canadian favorite—beer and tomato juice?

Owen Scott Identifies Mystery Farm No. 18

Mystery Farm No. 18 is the place of Owen Scott. It's a 320 acre farm located 17 miles southwest of town. Mr. Scott bought the place in 1940 from Carl W. Smith. Mr. Scott says the farm was a part of the old Lester ranch of pioneer days.

It was 1918 when Owen Scott married Jewel. The couple are the parents of two children. They also have one grandchild. The children are Mrs. Mildred Leavitt, their daughter, who now lives in Dalhart, and Billy Scott, their son, who lives in Ava, Missouri.

Mr. Scott explains that his foremost hobby is working in his woodwork shop at home. He has a special little shop with power tools to make those intricate little wood tables, corner shelves, and other things that improve the looks of a home so much.

Dry land farming is practiced on the farm and Mr. Scott lists his favorite crop as wheat. He has been in the vicinity of Canyon for 25 years and made the remark that last winter was the first time he had to resort to buying his cattle feed. At present he has 16 head of cattle on his farm and as a general rule grows his own feed, but had to buy feed last winter and says he will probably have to buy some more this winter.

The farmer practices crop rotation as a soil conservation method. He has been taking The Canyon News about 20 years. His favorite section of the paper is one that has proven the most popular with most of our mystery farmers; it's the editorial section.

BOYCE HOUSE Gives You Texas

The biggest bargain that I found on this summer's visit to California was a bus trip from Los Angeles to Tijuana, the town made famous by its race track, which was the subject of entertaining short stories by Gerald Beaumont, 30 years ago. Tijuana is just across the boundary in Old Mexico and the track, Aguacaliente, is the scene of racing every Sunday throughout the year.

You board a special bus (one leaves every few minutes from 7:15 to 8:15 a. m.) in front of the Biltmore Hotel and go past thousands of orange trees; San Juan Capistrano, the mission renowned for the swallows, and 50 miles along the Pacific Ocean with its boundless green waves, bathers and campers in trailers or in cars, with tents and tarpaulins. (That night, coming back, you will see fires of driftwood.) You go by Del Mar, the race track where "the turf meets the surf"—in fact, wisps of mist from the ocean hang like smoke across the track this particular morning; and through many pretty towns, past the harbor of San Diego, with its destroyers and cruisers.

At the boundary you leave the bus and are handed two tickets. You walk across the line and board a taxi to the track. The driver tears one ticket in two—the other half is for the return taxi ride. He steps on the starter and you are literally "off to the races"—in fact, the driver gives you a little racing down side streets, unpaved, to avoid traffic and then zips in and out of the line of cars. You see the bull-ring and, off to one side, a slim tower that suggests the Moors in Spain—and then you are at the track entrance. The other ticket given you is admission, not just to the grounds, but to the clubhouse.

Technicolor Musical

There, a scene right out of a South American technicolor musical presents itself to your enchanted gaze: a track surrounded by mountains, an infield of bright-hued grass, adorned with tropical flowers and shrubs; in front of the clubhouse, diners and sippers under big beach umbrellas of red, blue and pale gold and, over the section of the clubhouse which extends out into the open, a canopy of red, white and green canvas. The clubhouse itself has tiled floors and an intricately-carved ceiling covered with gilt. Only Carmen Miranda was lacking!

This day, there are three races in the morning and 12 in the afternoon. There is little delay between races—(at most tracks, in an afternoon there will be eight races, so naturally events here are speeded up).

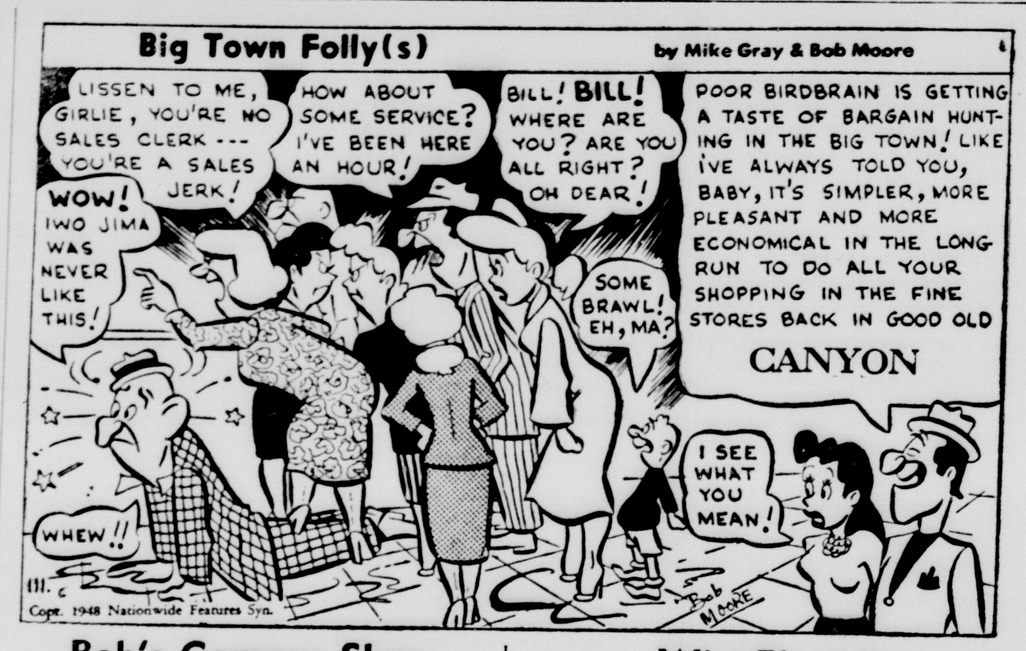

People are the most interesting sight at the track—as they are everywhere. At Tijuana, you see Mexicans, Chinese, Americans; tourists, in lurid sports shirts; a woman of India (or maybe Hollywood) in a robe; men with wide hats and boots, as at the Stock Show in Ft. Worth; a few Mexican policemen, smartly garbed in gray-green uniforms; movie actors and actresses; a giant of a man, over 300 pounds, in dark trousers and navy-blue sweater, his head setting on bull-like shoulders; a woman in a picture hat, who reminds one of a duchess at Monte Carlo in an E. Phillips Oppenheim novel; a silent, lone man with slit-like eyes, swart face and the inscrutable expression of a Mayan image.

Departing

Well, when you are ready to depart, you exchange your taxi ticket for a ride back to town and walk past the U. S. immigration officer who asks, "Where were you born?" You answer. If he had asked, "Why?" that might have been more difficult. Then the bus trip back to Los Angeles.

Now what do you think the fare for the international journey was: over 300 miles, past missions, orange groves, lovely towns, San Diego harbor, taxi to and from the track and admission to the clubhouse? Four dollars! That was the biggest bargain of my California visit.

BOOKMOBILE BURNS

Midvale, Utah. — Ralph Voyce, driver of Salt Lake county's traveling library, reported that, at one of his stops, a 12-year-old boy saw a puddle on the ground beneath the vehicle and decided to find out — with the aid of a match — if it was gasoline. It was — and the bookmobile is out of commission until extensive repairs can be made.

Texas Press Association

"A natural disaster and public calamity" exists in the drouth areas of Texas, according to an official proclamation by Governor Shivers.

The proclamation was a legal requirement for putting the state drouth aid program into action.

Using his emergency powers, the governor set up a state defense and disaster relief council to administer the program. Most of the council members are heads of state agencies.

From Victoria, Claud McCan, state PMA chairman, sent telegrams to county committees telling them that they have wide discretion in screening applicants for federal drouth relief.

Applicants do not have to sign a pauper's oath, said McCan.

That assurance also came from President Eisenhower, Governor Shivers, and Secretary of Agriculture Benson.

Their statement was in reply to the complaints of many Texans who had interpreted a U. S. Department of Agriculture directive as meaning that applicants would have to swear they were broke before receiving aid.

The President said in a telegram to Governor Shivers, that the decisions respecting the distribution of feed will largely be the responsibility of local committees within the framework of regulations prescribed by the secretary of agriculture.

And by telephone, Benson told Shivers that the agriculture department had not thought of asking for either paupers' oaths or financial statements as a prerequisite for aid to farmers and ranchers.

Members of the local committees will be farmers, ranchers, bankers, and agriculture experts, able to judge each application on its own merits, Shivers said.

He added that work is going forward on the drouth aid program at the state level.

A meeting of the Texas A&M College board was to follow conferences between representatives of the attorney general and the collge on a plan to furnish hay to drouth areas.

And the State Department of Health surveyed water supplies as related to health.

In Washington, Senator Price Daniel of Texas, following a visit to the drouth area, said "our great need today is for a long-range state-federal program of drouth control."

Temporary relief in time of emergency solves no permanent problem, Daniel commented, and "We must control drouths by joint effort or else, in the not too distant future, drouths will control us."

While the drouth-relief program was getting started, hard rains fell at scattered points over much of the state, bringing joy to some of the people in parched places and cooler weather to most sections.

The rains, however, were not general and it was not considered that the drouth was broken.

Charges against District Judge C. Woodrow Laughlin of Alice will be investigated by the Texas Supreme Court, which appointed District Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown to hear testimony on eight of the counts, four others having been dismissed.

The probe will include the accusations of 11 lawyers in Judge Laughlin's district that he ordered impounded ballot boxes delivered to a nephew of George Parr. The nephew at that time was sheriff of Duval County.

Also to be looked into is a charge that Laughlin impeded a Jim Wells County grand jury which was considering the slaying of Jacob S. Floyd, Jr.

Another subject for the investigation is a charge that Laughlin dismissed 68 indictments in Starr County, 60 of the indictments being based on alleged fraud and irregularity in the July primary last year.

Judge Wood is to make his report to the Supreme Court by October 1. Judge Laughlin's attorneys will then have 30 days in which to file their objections. Thereafter the court will determine whether or not to sustain the charges and whether to remove Laughlin from his office.

Governor Shivers went to Seattle August 2 for a five-day session of the national governors conference.

President Eisenhower is scheduled to be present for discussions on federal-state relations. Shivers is chairman of the conference.

The state property tax this year will remain at 42 cents per $100 valuation — 35 cents for schools, 5 cents for the college building program, and 2 cents for confederate pensions.

An extra 30 cents will be collected in the Dallas flood control district, in precincts of Jefferson and Matagorda counties, and in all of Aransas, Austin, Brazoria, Brazos, Burleson, Calhoun, Cameron, Coke, Fort Bend, Grimes, Milam, Robertson, San Patricio, Tom Green, Waller, and Washington Counties, all of which pledged state taxes to pay for conservation projects.

The rate was set by the State Automatic Tax Board, composed of the Governor, Comptroller Robert S. Calvert, and Treasurer Jesse James.

Return to the state from the tax is an estimated $26 million for the year.

For September, the Texas draft quota is 1,232 men, state selective service headquarters announced.

That's two more than the August call and 54 below the number of draftees in the July quota.

Thirty doctors of medicine will be inducted in August, largest number for any single month to date, said Brigadier General Paul Wakefield, state draft director.

There was one political development: State Senator Searcy Bracewell of Houston said he might run for lieutenant governor next year "if it is an open race."

By that he meant he would not run if Ben Ramsey, the incumbent in that office, seeks re-election.

And the "if" in that sentence is a big one in the state political picture.

Ramsey is considered a sure starter in the race for governor "if" Shivers does not run. Shivers has said that he might ask for a third term.

On Shivers' decision rests the candidacy of more than one hopeful, not only for the governor's office, but for other places that might be vacated in the political shuffle.

Purchaser of a site for a new headquarters building in Austin is the Texas Public Employes Association, an organization of state and local government workers.

The location is a block north of the capitol. Pirtle Watt, executive secretary of the association, said that the date for beginning construction of the building has not been set.

State police have coined a word: "motorcide." It means a traffic fatality.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, said two of his staffers, N. K. Woerner and Lewis E. Berry, invented the word.

In Texas, the "motorcide" rate is decreasing, according to the department's figures for 1952 and first six months of 1953.

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A great glaring inconsistency noted by Washington observers is that so often a mighty hue and cry is raised over a huge problem, yet no attention is given to the solution right at hand.

* * *

As example, during tax hassle, statement was made that it may even be necessary to raise the national debt limit by the end of the year, so serious is the nation's financial plight.

C. W. Harder

* * *

Yet, Congressman Ralph W. Gwinn, of New York's 27th District, whose views are often circulated by the Committee for Constitutional Government, firmly believes at least $47 billion could be lopped from national debt right now.

* * *

As one item, he points to Public Housing, stating in past 19 years, the public has been saddled with a 40-year mortgage totalling $20 billion dollars.

* * *

Congressman Gwinn marshals many facts about public, low rent housing projects. Removal of property from local tax rolls creates a burden on local government. He also cites the apparent fact that only the politically annointed can secure this low rental housing.

* * *

Only families below a certain income are supposed to be eligible for the rentals which are about half the prevailing rental market, yet in one case a tenant with a $24,000 per year income was found; in another case the mayor of Birmingham, Alabama was a public housing tenant.

* * *

But while the scandals are bad, Congressman Gwinn has not yet commented on the most interesting fact.

The Public Housing Authority has built somewhere around 500,000 family dwelling units. This means, based on Congressman Gwinn's figures of $20 billion dollars, that public housing has cost somewhere around $40,000 per family unit. Thus it becomes plain government has no business in real estate business.

* * *

If Public Housing Authority property was sold to the highest bidder, competent real estate operators would undoubtedly find attractive investments.

* * *

While the property would probably not be worth the full $20 billion bled from taxpayers, a strong possibility is felt that sales to private operators should return more than half.

* * *

This reasoning is based on the fact that a fair portion of this housing was prewar built, some during the war, only a portion built during the postwar inflated cost period.

* * *

Therefore, at present day values, it is conceivable that a part of the housing could be sold for considerably more than it cost to build, despite bureaucratic waste, and that a big loss would only be taken on property built during postwar period. Such a move would slash $10 billion from national debt save untold millions in interest and administration. It is common business practice to take a loss to avoid further losses, a principle presumed understood by an administration self-proclaimed as businessmen.

* * *

Congressman Gwinn also believes that the government could reduce the national debt $27 billion by selling the Tennessee Valley Authority, or TVA.

* * *

Because consideration of this issue is bound to be highly controversial, it will be treated in the next column.

Troop 66 Scouts Enter Amarillo Swimming Meet

Saturday 11 Boy Scouts of Troop 66 got experience from the first Amateur Athletic Union Swim Meet held in West Texas. This event was held at the Amarillo Air Base. Canyon team placed fifth with a total of 33 points, but many of the Scouts won medals for individual merit.

Scouts who entered were Leonard Miller, Roy Hunter, Donnie Ford, James Young, Craig Hinger, Alan Hanks, Larry Brotherton, Chuck Nester, and Mike Hood. Also entered were Cub Scouts Eddie Pettitt and Dean Richmond, who is visiting here from Long Island, New York.

Miller, Hunter, Hinger, and Ford won first place in the 80 meter free style relay. Miller won third in the 20 meter free style and 40 meter free style, and second place in the 60 meter medley relay.

Hunter won second place in the 20 meter backcrawl and third place in 20 meter breaststroke. Hinger and Ford and Hunter won second place in the 60 meter medley relay. Pettitt won second place in the 20 meter free style in the age 10 and under group.

Ralph Green and Joe Watson returned this week-end from a five week session at Northwestern University, Evanston, Illinois. Ralph studied in the school of journalism; Joe in the engineering school.

Larry Paul Ogle Still Improving

Latest report on Larry Paul Ogle came at the end of last week. At that time the 5-year-old boy, who is suffering from burns, was reported as improving as well as could be expected.

Those who have been visiting Larry Paul say that the most encouraging thing that can happen to him is to receive cards and letters from friends in Canyon. Children in the ward where Larry Paul is have a sort of contest from day to day in regard to letters and cards. The winner is the child who receives the largest number and all these cards and letters are posted on the screen near the foot of the bed.

Larry Paul's condition has been so serious that several times the doctors have given up hope. The fighting spirit of the young lad has carried him through and now he appears to be on the road to recovery. For continued improvement and recovery, the lad's morale is important. Keeping the cards and letters coming in is a great help for his morale and eventual recovery.

His address is Larry Paul Ogle, St. Joseph Hospital, Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Emil Bewer Carmichael and daughter of Elida, N. M., spent the week-end in the home of Mrs. T. V. Reeves. Emil was an employee of The Canyon News back in the depression days of the '30's.

Nightly Programs During the Music Camp at W. T.

Nightly programs are slated at West Texas State College during the two-week period of the first West Texas Music Camp, and the outdoor concerts are open to the public.

Good crowds turned out for the first two programs this week, although Monday's Amarillo Air Force Band concert was almost rained out. The program was almost finished, however, before the showers came.

Dr. Walter H. Juniper, WT dean, will present a "Jukebox of Yesteryear" program Wednesday night, starting at 8 p. m., drawing from his collection of old records for the show. Slated Thursday night will be a folk music program, presented by Charles Bryan, Birmingham, Ala., composer, who is directing choral work for the camp. An amateur night is slated for Friday, with camp students participating.

Next week's programs, opening Monday, feature the Reese Air Force Band and dance band, and Oklahoma University students will present excerpts from great musical comedies in a "Broadway Musical" show Tuesday night. Final concert will be a "Tribute to Romberg," presented by the choir, bands, and twirlers at the camp, in a program August 14.

Enrollment at the camp is climbing to the 200 mark, and because of the unexpected numbers of students, M. J. Newman, WT music department head, has announced that six band directors from the area will assist the two camp band men, Jack Lee, University of Arizona director, and Hiram Henry, Oklahoma A & M director. They are Herman Demus, Canyon, Fred Carpenter, Borger, Charles Emmons, Amarillo, Vernon Lewis, Tulia, Ralph G. Smith, Dimmitt, and William W. Miller, Hereford.

Recently Mrs. T. V. Reeves had as breakfast guests, Miss Mary E. Moore of Pamplin, Va., Misses Gladys Davis and Katherine Metcalf of Amarillo, M. Moss Richardson and Hattie M. Anderson of Canyon, and last week-end Mrs. B. W. Carmichael and daughter, Diane of Elida, N. M., visited her.

Dr. Hattie M. Anderson, Mrs. T. V. Reeves, Dr. Ruth Lowes and Linda Lowes were luncheon guests of Mrs. Dan Busch and daughter, Ann, of Amarillo yesterday.

Brantley Named As Voice Professor

Royal L. Brantley, formerly voice instructor at Tarleton State College, has been appointed assistant professor of music and director of the Opera Workshop at West Texas State College, President James P. Cornette has announced.

Brantley, who will assume duties in September, has been professor of voice and director of the choir at Tarleton since 1949. He had previously held similar positions at the University of Texas and Southwest Texas State College.

A graduate of Southwest Texas State College, where he earned the Bachelor of Music Education degree, Brantley earned his Master of Music degree at the University of Texas. He had done further graduate study at the University. He has been a church choir director for 12 years and has done radio work in Austin and San Antonio. Brantley is married and has two children.

City Club Starts One Tournament; Plans Another

A flighted medal play golf tournament will begin for the members of the City Club Sunday. The tournament will continue for three Sundays, and each man will play 18 holes per Sunday making a total of 54 holes.

Present tentative plans are for four flights to be in the tournament. Exact number of flights will probably not be known until play begins Sunday.

Tournament committee is made up of Jack Haley, Bill Sternenberg, Dan Sanders, Ross Craig, Clark Jarnagin, and Bill Knighton.

Bill Knighton said at present a partnership tournament is being planned. At this time the final details of this new tournament are incomplete.

Tea guests of Mrs. T. V. Reeves Thursday were Misses Dorothy Duke of Corning, New York, Dorothy Filgo, Quitman, Texas, Louise Orr, and Ida Lee Cope of Amarillo, Mae Simmons and Ruth Lowes of Canyon.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Penick will return this week from Gunnison, Colo., where they have been enrolled in school.

Miss Edna Graham Talked on Europe At Rotary Lunch

Miss Edna Graham was the speaker at the Rotary Club luncheon Tuesday, discussing her trip to Europe where she visited a number of nations during the summer.

She landed in Ireland where she described conditions of the country people in that land of want and filth. Dublin is a modern city and the south part of Ireland is beautiful. When she went to Belfast in the northern part of Ireland, she could secure no hotel accommodations, and described her stay with English girls who were seeing the country by the way of their thumbs.

She spent five days in London where she walked the entire route taken by the Queen in the recent Coronation celebration.

She flew to Finland where she found the greatest cleanliness on the part of the people. The country pays its debts in spite of the heavy penalties collected by the Russians.

Miss Graham spent some time visiting in Germany, Denmark and Norway. The latter was one of the first to join the U. N.

Visitors were Olin E. Hinkle and son, Robert of Austin; Bill Brune of Littlefield; George Heard of Hereford; Joe Champion of Perryton; Fred Carpenter of Borger; Glen Wright of Erick, Okla.; Rev. W. E. Hamilton of Quanah; G. R. Sandy and Roy Janeray of Lubbock; Roy Pool, E. Jobe, Joe C. Rogers, R. B. Norman, Howard Lynch, Porter Oakes, Van H. Allm, J. J. Sanders, all of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Penick with their grandsons, Van and Byron Ford, of Amarillo, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Leon Penick in Truth or Consequences, New Mexico.

FBI Investigator Speaks to Lions

Carl Perriman, special investigator for the FBI, spoke Wednesday to the Canyon Lions Club luncheon. He described some of the responsibilities and tasks of the FBI, particularly in this area. Mr. Perriman was introduced by Burney Slack.

Perriman said one of the most troublesome things here is the violation of the Dyer Act, or transporting stolen cars across state lines. A great number of these cars come through here, stolen in the East. Teen-age youngsters are the most frequent violators. When caught they are lonely, and scared, willing to tell the whole story.

Mr. Perriman found that in interviewing over 300 of these teen-age boys and girls, not one of them have attended Sunday School regularly.

He told of several cases where the research bureau had been primarily responsible for the arrest of criminals. "The FBI is good because the people make it good," said the speaker. Over 98 per cent of FBI cases are decided in favor of the state. The FBI is, however, a fact-finding group and does not prosecute.

New members brought intto the club were Hugh T. Greiner and Riley Troth.

Mrs. Ruble George of Texarkana, Ark., and Mrs. W. G. Forsby of Texarkana, Tex., arrived Wednesday morning to be with their brother, Dr. J. L. Duflot, for a few days.

Eight Boy Scouts Take Trip to Pecos

Accompanying the group were Charles Morris and Raymond Haddock, Explorer Scouts of Post 66, and Scoutmaster Edd Pettitt and his son, Eddie Pettitt.

Each Scout carried his own pack containing his clothes, bedroll, and Bernard Kamp-Pack, a pack for concentrated foods. The pack averages about 20 pounds in weight. Menu for the outing contains such items as hot rolls, chicken soup, concentrated meat, pancakes, chocolate custard, beef soup and vegetables.

Dr. and Mrs. Bradford Black left Monday for Houston where Dr. Black is considering a location for the practice of dentistry.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Lentner and daughters, Dorothy and Marjorie, of Roswell, N. M., were recent visitors in the Bertha Rhoads and the Levi Cole home. Mrs. Lentner is a daughter of Mrs. Rhoads and a sister of Mrs. Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Harding, Martha and Buddy, and granddaughter, Korene Kiser, visited the A. A. and A. W. Harding families in Bowie over the week-end.

Cub Scouts Enjoy Picnic at City Club

Cub Scouts of Pack 31 enjoyed a picnic at Canyon City Club Friday evening. An estimated crowd of 50 parents and Cubs were present; a better turn-out than expected because of so many people on vacation.

The Cubs' fathers built a large fire and the group roasted weiners after getting acquainted by the millionaire handshake. One of the mysteries of the affair was the disappearance of Mrs. Pettitt's tub and coffee pot. She reports she would like some information on them as they were left at the club grounds.

On Monday night the Cubs met at the home of Den Mother Mrs. Edd Pettitt. Games of target shoot, drop the buttons, pin the tail on the donkey and balloon burst were enjoyed by the Cubs. Johnny Mike Pettitt shared his birthday cake and punch with Jimmy Fulcher, Ronnie Shepard, Richie Brotherton, and Ronny Harris, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Harris. The family moved here recently from Gruver.

Next meeting will be held at the home of the den mother next Monday at 6:30 p. m.

Taxation Mess in Congress Is Viewed With Great Alarm

It is sad but true that the Administration has found the budget problem an even tougher nut than was expected. Hopes for an early balance of the budget and general tax reduction have faded like cut flowers in the sun. The Administration's supporters naturally attribute this, in large part at least, to the fiscal dirty work done by Mr. Eisenhower's immediate predecessors. Gleefully the Administration's opponents say that it is proof that the campaign pledges made by the victors were deceitful and impossible to realize.

Be that as it may, even the most earnest seekers of tax reductions, Senator Taft among them, say gloomily that they don't know when cuts can be made. It is commonly said that the big trouble is that major slashes must be primarily applied to military spending. And, in the present state of world affairs, the lawmakers are very wary of taking any chances with the defense set-up.

Big Operator

There is another phase to the matter, however, which is getting increasing attention now, though little has been done about it on a high government level. That is the extent to which government is participating in commercial business activity—often at a heavy loss. It's a good bet that relatively few people realize just how big an operator of business government has become.

Time magazine featured a revealing article on the subject in its July 13 issue. It begins: "How far has 'creeping socialism' crept? Farther than most businessmen think. The astounding fact is that the U. S. Government is now operating some 100 separate types of business enterprises in which it has sunk at least $40,000,000,000. Among other things, the government has become the nation's largest insurer, electric-power producer, lender, landlord, grain owner, warehouse operator and shipowner. It monopolizes the world's biggest potential new industry: atomic energy."

Security Reasons

In some cases, Time continues, government went into business because of compelling national security reasons—atomic energy and synthetic rubber are examples of this. But government makes many a product—often at a cost higher than that which private enterprise could and would supply the product—which is in a very different category. Paint, rope, and boxes are examples in this field.

Time goes on to list some of the unnecessary losses that government business operations entail. It owns 122,000 housing units and operates them at a loss. It spends an average of $625 a lot to store the property of overseas servicemen in its own warehouses, whereas private warehouses, which have plenty of available space, could do the job for $97 per lot. In order to reclaim scrap iron, a naval air station spent $30,000 to install a press, even though there was a bigger private press nearby which could have taken care of all the scrap the base had in 10 days time. More than $43,000 was spent to haul scrap iron valued at about $4300 from Alaska to California.

Endless List

So it goes, down an apparently almost endless list. Time's conclusion seems to be very much in point: "When there is a will to get the government out of business, it can unquestionably be done. To do so, the new Administration will have to overcome all the resistance, obstruction, delay and evasion of the bureaucrat-at-bay . . . But the further it gets into the problem, the sooner it will learn that the only way to stop government in business is to stop it."

Troy, N. Y. — Harvey H. Hecker, 76-year-old war veteran, recently started on the next-to-last lap of a 5,000 mile voyage in the 15-foot motorboat he built himself. He planned to go through the State barge canal, cross to Lake Erie to Sandusky, Ohio, where he lives. Then he plans to retrace his route back to the Atlantic Seaboard, across the Gulf of Mexico and up the Mississippi.

THE AMERICAN WAY

Beware Uncle Sam!

Whose Master's Voice?

CIO Would Take Nation Into State Socialism

No country can long exist half socialist and half free or half communist and half free. One must be victorious; one must be defeated and destroyed.

In every country which has adopted dictatorship, regardless of what it calls itself, organized labor has been one of the first victims.

No one who knows anything of history can doubt these facts. So a resolution adopted at the last annual convention of the CIO seems strange indeed: "The CIO reaffirms its support for a national health program which will provide the people of our nation with needed medical services, facilities and personnel. Such a program must include expanded federal aid . . . It must also include a system of national health insurance . . ."

This resolution calls for a degree of political domination of medicine which could result only in socialized medicine. And socialized medicine, as history attests, is one of the main planks in the general socialist program. Do the CIO policy makers honestly believe that we can socialize and regiment certain professions and certain enterprises—and leave other groups, including labor, free and independent?

The CIO wants improved medical care. So does everyone else. And we are getting better care—in a sound, and orderly manner. We are gradually solving the problems involved. No major nation can point to greater medical progress than ours. To make the medical arts the instrument of government would be to turn the clock back, and to set in motion a chain of the most ominous and far-reaching consequences.

PERSONAL INCOME

The personal income of American citizens reached an annual rate of $248,000,000,000 in May, $1,000,000,000 above the rate in April. Over-all personal income, farm and non-farm, for the first five months of 1953 was at an annual rate of $282,000,000,000, 7 per cent higher than in the same period of 1952.

DOCTOR DRAFT

Under legislation signed recently by President Eisenhower, doctors, dentists and veterinarians will be subject to draft calls for another two years. The law applies to men up to the age of 50, who may be called to active military service for 24 months unless they have already seen at least 21 months of duty since September, 1940.

Tulsa, Okla. — For the past nine years Bob Hansen has watched two clusters of strange plants grow in his yard. Recently, they were examined by a botanist, who said they were sotols, a rare desert species, which "can't grow in Oklahoma climate." Hansen isn't convinced, however, because the plants are now ten feet tall and still growing.

MOTHER'S LAP UNSAFE

San Antonio, Tex. — Being fed while sitting in her mother's lap near a window, Rozane Evans, 18-months old, unfastened a window latch. Suddenly, the child rolled out the window and fell two stories to the ground below. Bushes broke her fall and she was uninjured.

TAX CUTS

While the Government collected more taxes in the last 12 months than ever before in its history it still ran up a deficit of $9,389,000,000. Senator Byrd (D.-Va.) noting these figures, declared that he doubts the Eisenhower Administration will be able to make good on tax reduction promises next year without budget cuts deeper than now planned.

FOOD PRICES

Retail food prices remained unchanged on the average between June 15 and 29th, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. Most of the increases occurred for fresh fruits, pork and eggs, while the most significant decreases were for fresh vegetables, poultry and meats other than pork.

NEW CARS

The nation's auto manufacturers are aiming at setting a record of 1,760,000 passenger car assemblies in the current quarter of 1953. That three-month volume has been reached only once before in history — in the same period in 1950, with 1,898,783 car-assemblies.

Proper Beach Wear for That Trim Look

Halter top for shorts or skirts is in white or black pique. This Dorothy Korby design is ideal for beach or summertime evenings.

BY EDNA MILES

LOOKING pretty at the beach takes work in the form of beforehand planning. Even casual observance of beach get-ups leads to the suspicion that seventy-five per cent of all women at the beach have never so much as glanced at themselves in the mirror before they left the house.

Full length appraisal is essential. The swim suit to cut down figure faults has been on the market for sometime now and is no rarity. The sand or sitting suit that performs similarly is designed to be kind to too-heavy thighs, upper arms and bust.

A good many women continue to cram themselves into that hardest of all suits to wear: white. This demands the absolute in figure perfection. Or, women with large derrieres bounce about in bloomer suits with ruffles across the back. They also are fond of pink which is definitely enlarging.

Another failing is that of "wearing out" old housedresses or just plain old clothes at the beach. This is fooling yourself, just like eating that last piece of pie "to keep from wasting it."

Casual summer shoe that takes readily to sand is this Desco design in gray denim with black leather trim. Light crepe sole is flexible; whole shoe can roll up into the palm of a hand.

You're in the public eye at the beach so look your very best.

Sleek top for a pair of trim shorts is Dorothy Korby's little molded pique halter in black or white with a single big shiny black button. Bring along a skirt for cover-up and you're ready to go on from the beach to dinner.

We've picked a sandshoe with denim upper and crinkly crepe sole as a likely beach candidate. It's light, very flexible and comes in gray denim with black kid trim.

YOUR SENATOR REPORTS

BY LYNDON B. JOHNSON

Debt Limit

Congress may have adjourned by the time you read this, but plans for August 1 adjournment were shelved when the President asked for an increase in the national debt limit.

The present limit is 275 billion dollars. At a White House breakfast last Thursday morning, which I attended, President Eisenhower made a plea to Senate and House leaders to increase this limit.

President Eisenhower and the Secretary of the Treasury presented their case for increasing the limit. The Administration took the position this step is necessary to insure the Government's being able to operate normally between now and the next session of Congress.

Truce

We can be solemnly thankful that the fighting and the dying and the destruction have been halted in Korea. But there is no reason for us to be jubilant.

The agreement in Korea does not actually settle any basic issue. I know from my mail that there is much sympathy in Texas for the position taken by President Rhee, a patriot who for many years has battled for his country's freedom.

There is no sign that the Communist aggressors have undergone a change of heart. We must remain alertly on guard.

Cooperation

The first session of the 83rd Congress had its curious aspects. One of the most curious was the way the Democrats came to the rescue of President Eisenhower on a number of occasions, when obstructionist members of his own party tried to block his proposals.

Rarely, if ever, has a President holding one party affiliation been aided so much by so many members of the opposing party.

As Senate Democratic Leader, I had the privilege of playing some part in encouraging cooperation with President Eisenhower in getting through measures that seemed to me in the best interests of the country.

I am a strong believer in the two-party system of government. But I do not believe a worthwhile program put forward by the head of the Government should be stymied by the willfully obstructionist tactics of members of his own party.

I believe the American people — who showed in last year's election that they liked General Eisenhower better than they liked the Republican party — feel the same way.

Back To Texas

After adjournment, I hope I can spend a few days looking after things on my farm near Johnson City. During the fall, I expect to do quite a bit of traveling over Texas. I want to discuss matters with as many Texans as possible. I hope I have a chance to visit with you — and you — and you.

These weekly reports will be suspended during the adjournment period. Your editor's kindness permitting, they will be resumed during the next session. Meanwhile I would like to say to your editor: Thank you very much for your wonderful cooperation during the recent session.

Attorney General Has Given Review Opinions Rendered

Attorney General John Ben Shepperd has released a list of all opinions written by his office during the month of July.

Opinions of general interest include the following:

A real estate dealer may offer premiums to a property owner who lists his property with the dealer but may not offer premiums to persons who submitted a "lead" which results in the dealer's getting a listing.

A County Judge may place defendants convicted of drunk driving on probation for not less than six months in lieu of a mandatory jail sentence.

The minimum amount of the bond required of the tax assessor-collector of an independent school district is twice the amount of taxes collected in the largest single collection period of the preceding year.

Justices of the Peace who get a regular salary may keep fees collected for performing marriage ceremonies and for acting as Ex-officio Notaries Public.

Fees may not be paid to a sheriff in advance for serving citations on delinquent taxpayers who are non-residents of a county.

A County Commissioners court may make valid county tax levies even if one of the Commissioners is absent from the meeting because of duties in one of the reserve branches in the armed forces.

A County Commissioner serving in a military reserve capacity is entitled to his salary during his absence on military duty.

A contract to purchase stationery and printing for the legislature which was not let on competitive bids and approved by the Governor, Secretary of State, and Comptroller is not valid.

A County Judge acting as Ex-officio County Superintendent is entitled to keep the additional money paid him for such office.

Shepperd said that his office is continuing to win approximately 98 per cent of all cases tried since the first of the year. During the month of July, 94 cases were won out of 104 tried or appealed.

Profit Must Be Made in Business

It is not generally known that soon after the start of the Korean war the government asked the oil industry to increase its producing and refining capacity by 1,000,000 barrels a day, along with expanded transportation and storage facilities to match. That was done, at a cost of more than $6,000,000,000 of private capital. One result is that the oil industry's capacity is now more than adequate for present needs, and the market situation is intensely competitive. As a consequence, typical leading oil companies have found that their profits have tended to decline even as sales have increased.

This may seem highly favorable to the consumer. But there is another and extremely important side to it. As one oil man put it, "To continue to maintain this margin of spare capacity available for emergencies, we must have the money to build it. We cannot go on increasing our investment and reaping a smaller return, as occurred last year. If prices continue to lag behind increasing costs as in the last five years, drilling and refinery construction will slow down . . . until demand catches up with supply. Prices will then quickly rise substantially in order to restore incentives. However, such a solution of the problem would involve dissipating our reserve producing and refining capacity, and it would take a long time to replace it, especially in an emergency."

Enterprise must earn a reasonable return, sufficient to maintain incentive and the willingness to take risks, if it is to serve the public well and to be prepared for the future.

With the possible exception of Herbert Hoover, George Washington was the United States' wealthiest president.

John Adams, who died at 90, lived longer than any other U. S. President.

Auditor's Report of Randall County

To the Honorable Henry S. Bishop
Judge of the 47th District Court and To The Honorable Commissioners Court of Randall County, Texas

Dear Sirs:

In accordance with the duties of our office as duly appointed and acting County Auditor for Randall County, Texas, we have examined the financial books and records of the fee officers and the County Treasurer of the County for the period of January 1, 1953, to June 30, 1953, which examination included an investigation into the systems of accounting employed by each office, a comparison of the monthly reports of the officers with the records of such office, auditing of bills approved by the Commissioners Court, and such other procedure as we deemed essential in the circumstances. We have established the use of purchase orders for materials and supplies, as required by law, and have required officers receiving supplies to sign invoices showing receipt of such supplies.

We have examined the minutes of the Commissioners Court pertaining to salaries, authorization of appointment of deputies, the authorization for bids for purchase of materials and equipment in the amount in excess of $150.00, and other items which affect the fiscal affairs of the County. We have reconciled the payments reported to be made by the Tax Collector and other fee officers with the receipts of money by the County Treasurer for same, and find these to be in agreement. An inventory record of equipment is in process of construction to safeguard and properly account for items purchased. Recommendations have been made to the Tax Collector, and other officers where needed, as to methods of more efficiently accounting for the collection and disposition of County Funds.

A workable County budget will be set up and followed for the year 1954. It has not been the practice of the County in the past to make expenditures in accordance with a previously approved budget, although a budget has been prepared and placed on file each year as required by law.

The attached report summarizes the operation of the County funds for the period and the total fund balances at the close of the period.

It is our opinion that this report reflects such operations in a fair manner. Although we wish to state that further continuous and detailed auditing will be followed for this same period, and any discrepancies found in the amounts as reflected in this report, will be amended in later reports which will be made for the year 1953. This report does not reflect the amount due the County by a former official as shown by the audit report presented by a firm of certified public accountants for the year 1952.

We wish to thank the officials and employees of Randall County for the courtesies extended us in the capacity of County Auditor.

Yours truly,

E. T. Cummings, CPA
Randall County Auditor

WASHINGTON AND "SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

Many feel future of every American is not being mapped in Washington, London, nor Moscow.

* * *

* * *

For in Detroit Big Motors spearheads drive to scrap all U. S. tariff laws, to permit a ruinous flood of cheap foreign made goods and products.

C. W. Harder

* * *

Big Motors wants immediate elimination of 10% duty on foreign cars.

* * *

Thereby hangs a tale.

* * *

Independent U. S. automakers have upset Big Three of motordom. Old torpedoes which used to blast independent competition have been missing fire.

* * *

Before the war, independent car makers, regardless of quality of products or price, never overcame handicap of arbitrarily established low trade-in values of their products on other brands.

* * *

But, at war's end Big Three, feeling a hungry public would accept anything, offered models similar to prewar models.

* * *

But independent makers such as Studebaker, Hudson, Packard and Nash stealing a march, brought out entirely new models in design and conception.

* * *

Public acceptance of independent cars, both on new sales floors and on used car lots has been a major postwar surprise.

* * *

Steel controls brought by Korea established allocations to auto industry on historic usage; Big Three getting 85%.

With public demand for their new models on the upswing, this hurt independents, but they kept on developing new designs.

* * *

Now with controls off, Big Three knows wraps are also off independent competition.

* * *

But elements of Big Three have foreign plants with cheap labor. Some models have been offered U. S. buyers for some time. Many are sold because of lower price; others attracted by cheapness, are "sold up' to more expensive U. S. made models.

* * *

Elimination of 10% tariff would permit Big Three with foreign plants to import even cheaper cars.

* * *

This will hurt sales of all U. S. made cars including independents. But Big Three will make profit on foreign cars, leaving independent U. S. makers the only real losers.

* * *

This probable development would also be headed off.

* * *

As independent makes increase in sales, greater volume production will permit lower costs, consequently still lower prices. This the Big Three does not want.

* * *

There is also a paradox.

* * *

Most auto dealers for all brands are independent businessmen with high sense of community and nat al responsibility. Yet, such is nature of their franchise, dealers handling Big Three products face alternative of selling cheap foreign products or losing franchise.

* * *

The vast majority of Americans have all their eggs in one basket . . . the United States of America.

* * *

That defines coming battle on tariff eliminations. On one side the majority of Americans; on the other, a small minority with eggs in baskets all over the world.

Build Porch Suppers Around Fried Chicken

BY DOROTHY MADDOX

NOW is the season for informal but substantial porch or back yard suppers. They can be pleasant affairs and need not take too much preparation time. Base them on crispy fried chicken for best results.

Remember, if you are serving the chicken cold and want to cook it the day before or early in the day, be certain to refrigerate it well. For safety's sake, that is vitally important. Also, when taking chicken to the beach or to a picnic spot, refrigerate it thoroughly first. Arrange to keep it cold and eat it within 4 hours.

Butter-Crisp Chicken

One 2-3 pound frying chicken, salt, pepper, 1 cup flour, 1 teaspoon paprika, ¼ pound butter, shortening, thyme, if desired, thin onion rings, if desired.

Have chicken drawn and cut into serving pieces. Rinse in cold water and drain. Put salt, pepper, flour and paprika in paper bag. Shake 3 to 4 pieces of chicken in the bag at a time to coat thoroughly. Heat enough butter and shortening in a heavy skillet to make a layer of fat ⅛ inch deep. With kitchen tongs place chicken in hot fat. Brown on both sides. Place chicken, one layer deep, in shallow baking pan.

For added flavor sprinkle with thyme and onion. Pour melted butter over chicken pieces. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) until tender, about 25 to 30 minutes. Baste with melted butter after 15 minutes of baking.

Here's another suggestion for a porch supper menu:

Biscuit Beef Roll
(4 generous servings)

Two tablespoons fat, ¼ cup finely diced onion, 1 small clove garlic, minced; ½ pound chopped beef, 1 teaspoon kitchen bouquet, 6-ounce can tomato paste, ½ cup finely diced green pepper, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, ¼ teaspoon chili powder, ⅛ teaspoon powdered oregano, 1 cup biscuit mix, about ⅓ cup milk.

Melt fat in frying pan over low heat. Add onion and garlic and cook about 1 minute. Add chopped beef pulled into small bits and sprinkle in kitchen bouquet. Cook, stirring frequently, until meat is slightly browned. Add tomato paste, green pepper, salt, sugar, pepper, chili powder and oregano. Mix well and let cook over low heat about 10 minutes.

Then remove from heat and cool slightly. Meanwhile combine biscuit mix and milk to make small ball of dough. Roll out on lightly floured board to make a rectangle about 8 x 12 inches. Spread meat and tomato mixture on dough almost to edges. Roll up like jelly roll. Place on greased shallow baking pan. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 degrees F.) until roll is lightly browned and done, about 25 minutes.

Remove to serving platter. Cut in 1-inch slices to serve and accompany with whipped potatoes and a freshly cooked vegetable.

NEWS LETTER

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS
of the 18th Congressional District

The President's Hat

On July 30th I presented a West Texas hat to the President. The hat came from an anonymous donor on behalf of the people of Pampa, Texas, and was handled by the Chamber of Commerce there. When I took it out of the box, the famous Eisenhower smile came out in full bloom. He said, "That's just the kind I like. It is what I call a five-gallon hat. This is one that will sure get some wear." He expressed deep appreciation for the hat and his admiration for West Texas.

UN and Red China

Pressure will begin to mount for recognition of the Mao Chinese government to replace the Chiang government in the UN as representing China. Many here fear that some secret agreement was entered into binding the U. S. to not vigorously oppose such recognition. China is a UN member.

The question is — "Which is the true government of China?" If this question is treated as procedural matter, recognition of Mao government would not be subject to veto. U. S. Congress unanimously adopted resolution opposing recognition of Red Chinese government. England and other European countries appear to favor recognition of Mao. Basic reason behind this is that those countries need a market for their goods. China is the largest market in the world and has natural resources with which to pay for goods.

Satellite Communism

Communism is undoubtedly beginning to crumble in the satellite countries. Unless Russia can stop this decay and strengthen these under pinnings, the house will fall down on her. This will be the results of free world stopping the spread of communism. Unless communism can spread, it cannot live. Had China been saved from communism, Russia would already be on the ropes. Recognition of Red China and trading with her will give communism the help it needs. We must continue to keep it confined until it is completely dead.

Closing Days of Congress

For the past few weeks Congress has been working at a killing speed. This pace has been detrimental to the health of many of the members. The recent deaths of Senator Tobey and Senator Willis Smith were no doubt precipitated by this pace. It is impossible to eat regularly or properly.

Most of the members begin their work-day before eight and continue far into the night. This procedure has been more or less traditional with Congress during the past two decades. It is foolish and should be changed. The work can be done in an orderly and proper manner during normal work days.

Business is transacted so fast during the last weeks before adjournment, that it is almost impossible to keep up with the bills that are voted upon. This accounts for many amendments that are slipped into bills that later cause trouble. Even the Speaker's tongue gets twisted. Yesterday one of the Members asked for unanimous consent to speak out of order. (This means that he wanted to speak on a subject not then under discussion). The Speaker, in recognizing him, said, "The Gentleman is recognized for five minutes to speak without order." The members always get a laugh out of these slips because the tension is so great that any momentary relief from it is welcome.

Many of the members felt that our speed-up for adjournment was in vain when the President asked for an increase in the debt limit. This is causing great concern in Congress. It simply means that the debt will go to 290 billion dollars, which is pretty far above the national income.

What we need is the courage to cut back the spending and keep the debt limit where it is, at 275 billion dollars. If this course is taken, as it should be, Congress will be in session for several months.

HAVE WE THE GUTS?

"'False economy' is a budget cut you do not favor," says the Washington Daily News. That attitude has prevailed both in government and in the grass roots for many a weary year. And it is to a great degree responsible for our staggering national debt, our eternal deficits, and our punishing taxes.

The great question now is whether we have the guts to accept and applaud economies in government that will affect us all—not just "the other fellow."

Three gentlemen appeared at the railroad station, alcoholically propelled. As they reached the platform, the train began to move, and all three staggered for it. The station cop and a porter managed to bundle two of them aboard but they didn't get the third gent on the train. He stood sadly on the platform watching it disappear.

"Too bad, mister," the cop said. "Wish you could have gone aboard."

"Yes," replied the man, "and my frens'll be sorry too. They were seeing me off."

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

A few million pounds of beef raised in New Zealand, sold cheaply in a few cities of the nation, raised a much greater beef in Washington.

* * *

Sales of this beef for less than half prevailing U. S. prices, came as the drive to repeal all U. S. tariff laws was started.

C. W. Harder

* * *

Butchers bought the beef from Swift & Co. for only 17 cents per pound, or less than half current U. S. price for live beef. .39c steaks not only raised widespread public interest, but also three interesting questions.

* * *

Question ONE: New Zealand beef was permitted into U. S. because of an embargo on Canadian beef due to cattle disease. So Canadian beef was shipped to England; New Zealand beef, normally shipped to Britain, was taken into the U. S.

* * *

* * *

Question TWO: It developed the beef was in the U. S. for several months. But the now expiring Office of Price Stabilization prevented its sale while able.

* * *

* * *

Question THREE: Out in San Francisco, Milton Maxwell, butchers union head, prohibited sale of the meat in all except two markets, which had contracted for the beef before he made his ruling. He claimed the beef was butchered under non-union conditions. But when informed it was killed by the New Zealand union, he still flatly refused to let his union butchers handle the meat.

* * *

* * *

But the entire New Zealand beef situation is held to throw into sharp focus the muddling created by everybody in Washington, above the rank of a chief clerk, assuming powers reserved by law for Congress. Assumption of power in matter by union leader creates still further questioning as to just who does formulate U. S. policy.

* * *

Some claim situation shows how close U. S. is to anarchy, a system where everybody assumes power at will.

* * *

Under U. S. Constitution, a strong, controlling Congress is set up to avoid anarchy.

* * *

Agriculture Department felt reaction first. Secretary Ezra Benson had just annuounced intention to bring free competition back to farm marketing.

* * *

But now Agriculture announces resumption of butter price support. In all probabilities, U. S. taxpayers will once again pay many millions of dollars to buy up surplus U. S. butter.

* * *

Yet a strong effort is underway to abolish all tariff laws.

* * *

Yet, despite tariff, and war conditions, so far it has been impossible for U. S. to handle surplus production without spending huge tax sums.

* * *

Many feel use of tax money to keep U. S. agriculture healthy is sound policy under existing conditions.

* * *

But it will take a lot to convince taxpayers they should be assessed to take care of foreign farmers, too, which will be the result of tariff repeals.

Senator George Says Taxes Must Be Cut by Congress Soon

Senator Walter F. George of Georgia, one of the Senate's most learned experts in the field of finance, expects some tax relief for income taxpayers in 1954.

Senator George who was the Finance Committee chairman in the Democratic Congress, says, "We should do something for the individual income taxpayer," next year.

The Senator pointed out that the 11 per cent increase in personal income taxes, voted by Congress at the start of the Korean War, is automatically set to expire in January, anyway.

However, the Eisenhower administration is facing a tough problem. It has a deficit of nine billion dollars for its first year in power, and prospects of another one of about six billion, even at current tax rates.

Senator George, who is not a partisan, said he expects "considerable opposition" in Congress to an increase in the debt ceiling. If the government has to stay under such a ceiling, it is more likely to do it, he thinks.

Excess Profits Tax

To help the administration make even an approach to a balanced budget, the Democratic leader supported the six months extension of the excess profits tax, which he fought with all his power a few years ago.

"The excess profits tax never has been a good tax; we cannot make it an equitable tax, try as hard as we may," he said. "After earnest efforts, Congress passed an excess profits tax and tried to make it equitable, but," George said, "it turned out to have inequities, just as he predicted."

Nevertheless, the Georgian opposed an amendment that would have exempted so-called "small" corporations from the tax.

"I have no quarrel with corporations," he said.

"But in the smallest corporations there will be no greater hardship than in the lower and middle brackets of individual income tax payers."

Taxing Corporations

He also emphasized that while a few corporations pay "83 per cent tax on the last dollar of their income," under the law, "not a corporation in America can be taxed more than 70 per cent of its total income."

He said: "Ninety-nine per cent of those who have to pay an excess profits tax are infinitely better off than everyone in the lower and middle income tax brackets."

President Faces Tax Reductions In Coming Session of Congress

President Dwight D. Eisenhower, with his first six months in the White House behind him, faces a financial crisis which may remain his biggest headache for several years.

The debt ceiling is rapidly being reached by the government and the administration has no source in sight to prevent further deficits and a higher national debt total.

Despite his efforts to economize and his reduced budget, Eisenhower finds the prospect this year (July 1st through next June 30th) another whopping deficit — maybe as much as ten billion dollars. The end of some excise taxes in January and probable reductions in other taxes next spring indicate reduced revenue for the Treasury.

Yet expenditures will top 73 billion dollars. If revenue drops, as expected, the Treasury may get only about 65 billions in taxes, several billions less than last year.

275 Billion Limit

This would leave the administration with a deficit of eight to ten billions. That would run the national debt up over the 275 billion limit. But worse than this is the prospect seen by some economists, of several successive years of deficits, running through fiscal 1956.

If this prospect materializes, then the government debt may well be a major campaign issue in the presidential elections of that year—1956.

The crisis facing Eisenhower is brought on by two factors, one of which he cannot control. The first is the international threat of Communism, and the expenditures necessary for defense as a result. The second is the Republican promise to reduce both expenditures and taxes.

Both are going to be reduced, but the tax reduction is going to make annual deficits almost certain, if defense spending cannot be drastically cut on new sources of revenue found.

New Revenue

Initially, Eisenhower hoped to balance income and expenditures after his first six months, or a year, in office. And while he may still hope to, it is becoming a next-to-impossible task. Perhaps some new revenue source will be found to halt the tide of deficits. Eisenhower has hinted he would look into new ways to collect money.

A national sales tax is one proposal. But the President will probably not go on record until he addresses the second session of the 83rd Congress next January. Unless he comes up with a solution, deficit spending might be his thorniest problem of the next few years.

Summer Time To Shed Pounds Of Winter Months

Summer with its abundance of low-calorie fruits and vegetables is a good time to shed those few extra pounds put on during the winter months, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states.

People do not need as many starchy foods which produce energy in warm weather as they do in the winter, he said, because in the summer the warmth which starchy foods give to the body is not needed.

Green leafy and yellow vegetables and all types of fruit which are plentiful during the summer months provide an excellent, low-cost diet for the person who is overweight," Dr. Cox said. "Many of these foods can be eaten raw and are very nutritious this way provided the food is carefully washed to remove all dirt and insecticides which may be present."

Dr. Cox stressed the importance of properly storing food during the summer. He explained that certain foods such as cold cuts, cream desserts, potato salad, and sandwich spreads have a tendency to spoil quickly during hot weather. Foods of this type should be kept in the refrigerator until just before they are served.

"By using good common sense in choosing and serving the proper kinds of food, you'll feel better and have a much more enjoyable summer," Dr. Cox concluded.

Politicians in Congress Are Looking Toward 1954 Election

With the 1954 elections now just a year off, several prominent Senate and House Democrats are attempting to build up a case against the President, and the majority party. But they are finding it difficult.

The President seems to have won over the voter in the air power fight. Employment is still high and labor has won increases in several fields. The working man is thus pacified. Business are satisfied as profits exceed those of 1952. While there is a slow burn among many taxpayers over high taxes, Democrats are handicapped here by the fact that their party has been the proponent of higher taxes in recent years, and by the announced intention of the President to recommend reductions next year.

Despite their efforts, the Democrats haven't got the ammunition they hoped to have, by this time, on farm policies. The fundamental farm policy fight has been put off until 1954. As of right now the Democratic program of 90 per cent of parity support for the six basic crops continues in effect.

The Democrats can find little to attack in the field of foreign policy since the President is following basically the same policies as Roosevelt and Truman, with some changes and modifications. Altogether, then, Democrats, worried about 1954's elections, have found few issues, very few hot ones.

Reports by various surveying concerns indicate the President's popularity is still high and that he enjoys the backing of a majority of voters. Of course, this could be true and the Republican party could still lose strength in the 1954 elections.

But since there has been no split in the GOP it seems unlikely. The Democrats will have to develop the issues between now and the elections if they are to win control of Congress in 1955. If the government is still running in the red at that time the Democrats will harp on that.

The Ifs

If there is a recession, that will be an issue. If the farmers are still feeling the money squeeze, that is sure to be an issue. But right now the issues have not crystalized to such an extent that the people are actually restless.

The attitude of the Chinese Communists, in spite of the Communist peace offensive, will be tipped by their actions in Indo-China, Burma, Thailand, Malaya, and Nepal. In that area of the Far East the fighting between Communist bandit groups and anti-Communists continues. And India is getting uneasy over apparent Communist preparations for bringing the Red threat closer to that key country.

If the results of the Korean peace talks are stepped up attacks on the French in Indo-China, and heavier Communist blows against British forces in Burma and Malaya, plus growing and enlarging threats against India, then the Communist strategy will be obvious. The democracies have warned that they will regard such tactics as a threat to the free world. But the only thing they can do is wait and see.

It is no secret that used car dealers from coast to coast are speculating that the automotive industry made a mistake and set second-half 1953 production goals too high. Used cars are already glutting some markets and used car dealers know that heavier new car production will not help them.

Tighter financing restrictions have already crimped used car sales, and some dealers may even go out of business before the end of the year.

The automotive industry built 3.2 million cars in the first half of 1953, a record production, but most observers think total sales will be about 5,555,000 for the year. If that forecast pans out, new cars may be stacked up in storage depots before December.

Industry spokesmen are more optimistic than either used car or retail new-car dealers. They think the consumer will buy more than 5.5 million automobiles. The next few months will tell the tale. Meanwhile, used car dealers will sweat it out, and even some new-car dealers are wondering if they can move their allotments.

ARTHRITIS?

I have been wonderfully blessed in being restored to active life after being crippled in nearly every joint in my body and with muscular soreness from head to foot. I had Rheumatoid Arthritis and other forms of Rheumatism, hands deformed and my ankles were set.

Limited space prohibits telling you more here but if you will write me I will reply at once and tell you how I received this wonderful relief.

Who Is Owner of "The Mystery Farm" of This Week?

The panorama of rural beauty is reflected in mystery farm no. 19. The road in the background that seems to appear out of nowhere provides a scene worthy of the brush of the best artist. In the foreground there is the comfortable home enclosed by a neat, well kept fence, a field bearing the marks of a plow and a circular design of shrubbery about the windmill. If you know the owner you may be able to tip him off first that his place is the mystery farm. When the owner calls at The Canyon News office and identifies his farm he will receive a gloss photo of his place absolutely free.

Just Between You, Me . . . and the Gatepost . . .

By Lawrence Hunnicutt

This week the space in this column is being dedicated to the West Texas State College field geography tour group under Dr. M. B. Measamer. The group is now touring the Western portion of the United States. Various people on the trip have written bits about places they have visited and these are the notes that will comprise this week's column.

The Grand Canyon is the world's most spectacular illustration of erosion. The mighty Colorado River has cut a gigantic chasm 217 miles long, four to 18 miles wide and a mile deep. Just at sunset as the college group stood along the rim watching the reds deepen to dim purples and the grays, yellows, and greens change to magical blues, they were delighted with the immeasurable vastness, ever-changing colors, grandeur and beauty of the Grand Canyon — a masterpiece of nature, our priceless heritage. —Sarah Thompson.

Completion of Hoover Dam in Black Canyon closed an initial chapter in man's long effort to harness the resources of one of the world's most treacherous rivers, the Colorado. The lands of the Imperial Valley of California and in Southwestern Arizona needed irrigation water to prove fruitful. Over half a million desert acres in Southern California and Arizona have become a land of perpetual harvest since Hoover Dam has released a dependable irrigation supply. —Elizabeth Cox.

The Yosemite National Park is dedicated to the conservation of America's scenic scientific and historic heritage for the benefit and enjoyment of the people. The Mariposa grove of giant sequoias near the south entrance is one of the most beautiful and important points of interest. These huge giants make a trip through this wonderland a never-to-be-forgotten experience. The mariposa grove contains some 500 trees of enormous size, some of which are estimated to be over 3,000 years old. As the group viewed these beautiful trees we thought with Joyce Kilmer, "Only God can make a Tree." —Mrs. T. W. Collins.

When we crossed the San Francisco-Oakland Bay Bridge, which is eight miles long, we became aware that San Francisco is a city of towering hills and mighty bridges. Touring San Francisco with the Gray Line Company and their guide, John Clair, the party learned that San Francisco, with a population of about 827,000, is restricted to a narrow penninsular area with 200,000 of its workers commuting from Oakland, Berkeley, and Alameda, etc.

As the party cruised around San Francisco Bay, the world's greatest harbor, they were impressed with the grandeur of Golden Gate Bridge, spacious wharves, Treasure Island, Angel Island, Yerba Buena, Alcatraz, and San Quentin.

In the evening the party was guided through exotic China Town by a brilliant and entertaining Chinese guide who led us through shops and acquainted us with the weird magic of Chinese life. —Katie McCluney

As the tour progresses — every day has its highlights — and interest waxes rather than wanes with rich experiences awaiting us at every hand. —M. B. Measamer.

Social Security Card Lost or Changed

During the past three months, according to J. R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Social Security office, that office has issued each week about 150 original social security cards, 60 duplicate cards to replace lost cards, and 35 duplicate cards on account of marriage or divorce resulting in a change of employee's name.

Each person receiving a card, original or duplicate, is advised to "Use it, don't lose it." Since his social security number is the key to each individual's wage account, he should show the card to each new employer so the name and number can be copied directly onto the employer's payroll records. It is to the interest of both employer and employee that this be done, because it is the best possible way to insure correct reporting.

Unless needed when looking for work, employees are advised to leave their cards at home in a safe place. The card has only one purpose and that is the maintenance of the employee's wage account. It is one of the poorest types of identification and should not be used or accepted for that purpose. Since lost cards are relatively expensive for the Government to replace, and require several days of waiting time for the employee, social security cards should receive the same care as insurance policies and other valuable documents.

District Judge Defends Rights Of Attorney to Defend Criminal

(The following article is furnished by the Texas Bar Association on the rights of attorneys to defend criminals).

One of the cardinal principles of American law is that a man is considered innocent until proven guilty by proper legal proceedings. Practically everyone pays lip service to this ideal, but many fail to realize that the right to be represented by counsel is a logical and essential corollary of that theory of justice. There is a good deal of criticism of attorneys representing defendants in criminal cases. Much of this criticism is unjust.

Should lawyers defend in court persons whom they know or have good reason to believe are guilty of the crimes charged against them? The recent Belden Survey of the attitude of the public in Texas toward lawyers and law problems shows that more than half of all persons interviewed thought it was wrong for a lawyer to defend such a person.

Fair Trial

Such an attitude on the part of the public is rather startling to thinking people. Surely the guiltiest criminal has a right to a fair trial by the law of the land. Such a trial he cannot have without a competent attorney to see that a fair jury is selected and that only lawful evidence is introduced against him.

With reference to this feeling on the part of the public, District Judge James K. Evetts, of Belton, who served 18 years as a prosecuting attorney before his election as District Judge, recently offered the following comments:

"The result of this survey is no surprise to me, in that during my 18 years of prosecuting, this feeling has been made known to me by hundreds of persons.

Misunderstood

"The feeling on the part of the general public in this regard is brought about to a great extent by the sincere efforts on the part of the defense counsel to see that his client receives the benefit of every legal safeguard to which he is entitled. These legal maneuvers are often misunderstood by the layman as an unethical effort to defeat justice, by delay of the trial, and by taking advantage of certain defenses that to the layman appear to be trivial technicalities.

"Attorneys are the only ones who can correct the erroneous feeling of the general public regarding the defense of one who appears to be guilty as charged. We attorneys should emphatically state to the inquiring person that it is one of the cardinal rights of the individual in a democratic society to be considered innocent until his guilt is established beyond a reasonable doubt by legal and competent evidence.

Aid of Attorney

"The public must be brought to the realization that all who are charged with crime are entitled to the expert counsel and aid of an attorney, and that the sworn duty of such attorney is to see that each protective legal right, to which the accused is entitled, is afforded him."

Now and then a lawyer will overstep the bounds of his duty in defending those charged with crime. When that happens, the legal profession is even more indignant than the public generally, and appropriate disciplinary proceedings are instituted where warranted.

(This column, based on Texas law, is written to inform—not advise. No person should ever apply or interpret any law without the aid of an attorney who knows the facts because the facts may change the application of the law.)

"Every Little makes a Mickle"
-OLD PROVERB

HOW MUCH A "MICKLE" IS, DEPENDS LARGELY UPON WHAT THE RETURN ON SAVINGS IS. THAT IS WHY THE RECENT INCREASE IN INTEREST RATES IS SUCH GOOD NEWS FOR AMERICA'S SAVERS.

THE MONEY WE ARE ABLE TO PUT BY THIS WEEK MAY NOT SEEM MUCH, BUT IF WE SAVE REGULARLY, EVEN ONE PLUS ONE OR TWO PLUS TWO, BUILDING UP OVER THE YEARS WITH INTEREST ADDED, CAN AMOUNT TO A TIDY SUM FOR THE FUTURE FINANCIAL SECURITY OF THE FAMILY.
